Bargaining Rights Announced

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government Monday took a step toward placing its relations with civil service associations closer to that of trade unions, announcing acceptance in principle of collective bargaining.

Kennedy

Isolation Of Cuba Promised

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—President Kennedy pledged Monday night to isolate Premier Castro's Cuba and bar the infiltration of Communist agents into the rest of the Americas.

"We will build a wall around Cuba—not a wall of mortar or brick or barbed wire but a wall of dedicated men determined to protect their own freedom and sovereignty," he declared.

On the heels of what security officials called the greatest welcoming ovation in Costa Rica's history, Kennedy opened his

Breakdown Ahead Reds Warn

GENEVA (AP)—Russia said Monday Western insistence on more than three on-site inspections a year will inevitably lead to a breakdown of the nuclear test-ban negotiations.

Soviet disarmament negotiator Semyon Tsarapkin also warned the neutral bloc at the 17-nation disarmament talks against bringing pressure on Russia to raise its inspection quota offer.

U.S. ambassador Charles Stelle said Soviet acceptance of on-site inspection was the main theme of the letters exchanged between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev in January, and added: "I hope the Soviet representative will clarify this for us right now."

Tsarapkin ignored the appeal.

Sacred Boss Lauded By Haile Selassie

U.S. Ship 'Buzzed' By Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four Russian aircraft flew over the United States aircraft carrier Constellation in the western Pacific two days ago, the defence department announced Monday.

U.S. Navy reconnaissance and fighter planes intercepted the four Russian craft about 100 miles from the ship and escorted them "during a total of nine individual passes over the carrier," the Pentagon said.

OTTAWA (CP)—Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia, has expressed his confidence that Social Credit Leader Thompson and his party "have a major role to play in the future" of Canada.

The letter, written in Amharic, had an appended English translation initiated by the emperor.

Mr. Thompson was a senior administrator in Ethiopia from 1943 to 1958, serving as director of provincial education in 1946-51.

STRENGTHEN TIES

Recalling Mr. Thompson's service, the letter expressed confidence that he will continue to strengthen ties between Canada and Ethiopia and the hope "to see you soon in Ethiopia."

The letter, dated March 4, reached Mr. Thompson through the Social Credit office in Montreal.

Exiles Shell Reds

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Exile commandos from two anti-Castro groups shelled a Russian military camp and a Russian ship on Cuba's north shore Sunday night, it was reported Monday night.

Some Russians were reported killed in the attack by invading raiders belonging to two Cuban exile groups, Alpha 66 and the Second National Front of Escambray.

A refugee broadcast, The Voice of the People, reported the attack occurred near Isabela la Sagua in Las Villas province.

The refugee broadcast reported the raiders landed and reached a point near the camp. Material damage was inflicted, it said.

Daffodil Harvest Starts

The harvest has started, and these are the first of 10,000,000 daffodil blooms which will be picked on Saanich Peninsula this year. Holding the flowers near a blossoming fruit

Production Refutes Liberal Gloom Theory

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP)—of 20,000,000 or less population.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Monday Canada's national production has passed the $10,000,000,000 mark—the first time in history such a record has been achieved by a country people in the Renfrew, Ont., Armory, he said Liberal leader Lester Pearson deserted his responsibilities during the recent brief session of Parliament.

(See also Pages 3, 24)

Role of Aloneness Unsafe for Canada

MONTREAL (CP)—Liberal Leader Pearson said Monday night there is no security for Canada in a position of isolation.

He said any efforts Canada makes for peace and world security must be made from a strong position within the Western alliance.

TO ETHNIC GROUPS

Mr. Pearson made a short address to Liberal party associations of seven ethnic groups in Montreal, who tendered him a spontaneous reception.

"We must work for peace through the United Nations and from a position of security," he said. "We who believe in freedom must be strong to protect freedom."

NO CONTRIBUTION

"I do not consider as a contribution to peace any policy that would remove Canada from the Western alliance, nor is it any contribution to peace for a party to set a defence policy and then refuse to carry it out."

After, as he also said in Pembroke, the Liberals "hassled" the government and voted it out, the Liberals were returning to its strategy of last June in predicting doom and gloom for Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he did not know what the latest Liberal campaign plans would be.

"They tried out the truth squad. I don't know where it is now. I guess it has joined the 15 pigeons that disappeared."

His reference was apparently to 12 pigeons released last Tuesday in London, Ont., to head 450 miles to Juliette, Que., where Mr. Pearson was speaking. They had not arrived when Mr. Pearson had finished his speech and gone on to Montreal.

Beria's Former House Haunted?

Strange Doings Make Muscovites Fearful

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—If Moscow has a haunted house, it's the former home of Lavrenty P. Beria, chief of Joseph Stalin's secret police.

Russians and foreigners say strange things go on there at night: strange lights hover over the roof on certain occasions.

Late at night, Russians returning home on foot cross to the other side of the street.

Hundreds of Soviet citizens remember that day in June 10 years ago when a squadron of tanks rolled down Tchaikovsky Boulevard and surrounded Beria's home.

Whether Beria was arrested at home or at a meeting in the Kremlin is still uncertain. Soviet leaders have related several versions.

NEW SURVEY THE ANSWER

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

A key to the riddle of whether a Trans-Canada Highway contractor was overpaid by $135,000 may lie locked in a rocky, 12-mile stretch of road near Revelstoke.

But it could be unlocked by a comprehensive, three-month survey, the legislative committee probing serious accusations against Highways Minister Gagliardi and his department was told last night. A survey was suggested, but no decision was made.

Departmental construction director E. C. Webster told the committee that in spite of the fact controversial Project 819 was completed in 1958, its costs and fills will still be mired testimony to whether the $135,000 worth of work was ever done.

His statement came after the quietest day of the investigation.

A single blowup came when Opposition leader Robert Stanbury protested "continual harassment" by government members and told chairman Irvine Corbett "I have been turned down on everything I want."

Mr. Webster also said that, as far as determining whether the contractor had been overpaid, the monthly progress estimate sheets were of comparatively little significance.

Final Check Counts

What really counted was the final project survey when an actual measurement is made of all material moved.

Individual progress estimates could be at some variance with the actual material moved during the period they covered. But final settlement for the job would rest upon the results of the survey of the finished project.

Estimate sheets had been the basis of extensive cross-examination of the construction director by opposition members of the committee.

Mr. Webster also:

- Denied a principal of L & M Logging Co., prime contractor on Project 819, ever got special treatment as a result of visits to the highways department offices.

- Stated that categorically there was no misuse of funds on Project 819.

- Denied he had any knowledge L & M was in financial difficulty.

- Said the federal government approved awarding of the contract to L & M.

- Denied any knowledge of a conspiracy in the awarding of a contract for Project 1023 to a successor company.

- Stated no such conspiracy could exist without his knowledge.

Shed Little Light

Mr. Webster had been in the witness box for every session of the committee since Wednesday when Montreal contractor Dick Holzworth completed his testimony.

Holzworth's allegations of estimate padding, overpayment and promises of favors to contractors sparked the public accounts inquiry which they were tabled in the House by the NDP three weeks ago.

Mr. Webster, a halting witness who shed little light on some aspects of the allegations, indicated last night a new survey of the project might make the committee's probe into Project 819 unnecessary.

He refused to agree the resident engineer on Project 819 had committed a "fantastic error" in estimating the quantities of rock and other material on the job.

He told Randolph Harding (NDP, Kootenai) "I haven't tried to explain. I don't know what I can say now."

Mr. Harding was asking how an estimate of 31,000 yards of rock and 57,500 yards of other material could, on an actual estimate made for the purpose of a progress payment, become 38,000 yards of rock and 70,500 yards of other material.

He testified the new figures came as a result of reclassification of some of the other material to the category of solid rock.

Reclassification was asked for by an official of L & M and was carried out by regional construction engineer D. J. Gormley on the job.

Classification conducted by the resident engineer, E. H. Barclay, had been conservative.

Liberal leader Ray Perrault elicited the information the project could be surveyed

French A-Blast Protested

RABAT (AP)—The Moroccan government said Monday night it had learned that France fired a nuclear device Monday in the Algerian Sahara.

King Hassan II instructed his foreign ministry to protest to France.

NO COMMENT

There was no immediate comment from the de Gaulle government or from Algerian Premier Ben Bella's regime, which sources reported earlier had threatened to break off cooperative agreements with France if the French went ahead with a test.

A Moroccan government communiqué gave no source for its statement that the French exploded a nuclear device Monday in the Haggareg region, near Reggane, the French military testing centre deep in the Algerian Sahara.

Miners May Return

(CP from AP-Reuters)

PARIS — The French government's battle on the labor front registered a slight advance Monday as iron ore mine unions recommended a return to work. But disputes on many other fronts continued to plague the regime.

Both the Communist and Catholic unions scheduled a vote among the iron miners Wednesday on ending their walkout. The Socialist union was expected to go along with this decision and the miners were expected to endorse a return to work.

NONE LAID OFF

The unions acted after receiving the government's assurance that no miners will be laid off before June 1 while the wage, hour and employment situations are being studied.

now to check the accuracy of the work which was paid for.

At one point he served notice he would move that such a survey be carried out, but was discouraged by the time it would take.

Mr. Webster said the survey could check classification of material as well as quantity.

POOR CONDITION

He admitted having received a report from Mr. Barclay in 1957 while the project was under way that L & M's equipment was in poor condition.

But he said semi-monthly reports indicated it was working. Mr. Barclay's report said: "L & M have very poor equipment. Their cars are broken down most of the time. The work is very rough and nothing is finished."

CORRESPONDENCE

He denied any knowledge of correspondence between the deputy minister of the federal public works department and Mr. Gagliardi in connection with the bidding for the project.

Mr. Strachan read correspondence tabled in the Legislature in which a letter from the federal deputy minister questioned the consistency with which the department was applying its rules for bidding.

The letter questioned whether L & M had filed a bid bond and anticipated difficulty for the company in securing a 100 per cent performance bond. It pointed out two low bidders on another job had been disqualified by the highways department because no equipment lists had accompanied their tenders.

The correspondence included a telegram bearing Mr. Gagliardi's name advising the Otawa official all was in order and asking him to expedite approval for the awarding of the contract to the low bidder.

In testimony at yesterday morning's committee session Mr. Strachan tangled with Mr. Webster over testimony he gave last week.

The opposition leader suggested that, in the earlier testimony, Mr. Webster had said a $100,000 payment made during one month of Project 819 was "pick-up" resulting from earlier under-estimating.

MAXIMUM AMOUNT

He asked the construction director if he would be surprised to know examination of earlier estimates showed the maximum amount attributable to "pick-up" was $8,353.

"No," the witness replied. He said the balance between that and $100,000 would be the amount of work done during the month.

He denied he was changing his testimony and said he was sorry if he had left a false impression.

STOOD DOWN

He was allowed to stand down as yesterday's session ended, but may be recalled later.

Today's sitting of the committee will hear Clyde Thornton, the man said by Holzworth to have paid a $6,702 debt of a friend of Mr. Gagliardi's following a promise from the minister that his firm would be rewarded.

English Comedy Brilliant Show

By BERT BINNY

The Royal Theatre was full Monday evening for the presentation by The Canadian Players of Masterpieces of English Comedy.

These masterpieces, selected by Andrew Allan and directed by David Gardner, spanned more than four centuries of English theatre from Nicholas Udall to contemporary N. F. Simpson.

REVERSE ORDER

The order of the program, however, was exactly the reverse, starting with Simpson and going back gradually. This made the transitions easier to absorb.

Four fine performers provided a distinctive and diverting evening: Frances Hyland, gay and flirtatious; Amelia Hall, full of vigor and possessed of superb vocal projection; suave William Hutt and Eric Christmas, bubbling with a comedy that didn't change much in 100 years.

SPECIAL BRILLIANCE

Mr. Christmas shone with special brilliance in Simpson's A Resounding Tinkle and Sheridan's School for Scandal. Amelia Hall was particularly impressive as Lady Bracknell, Mrs. Malaprop and as Mrs. Pinchwife.

The excerpt from William Congreve's The Way of the World seemed somewhat tedious; perhaps in comparison with the more boisterous pieces around it.

THROUGH PAUSES

Great assets were pace and smooth continuity. Audience interest was not allowed to flag through pauses between the various pieces.

This made the whole program an outstanding theatrical achievement.

Road Death Inquest Set Today

An inquest will be held at 10 a.m. today at McCall's chapel into the death of Mrs. Josephine Crean, 83, who died Thursday after being hit by a car at Cook and Oxford March 3.

Funeral mass will be held at 9 a.m. Thursday at St. Andrew's Cathedral, followed by burial in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Mrs. Crean was Greater Victoria's fifth traffic fatality of 1963.

RCN Names Final Rinks

Eight curlers have been selected to represent the RCN Pacific Command at the seventh annual RCN bonspiel April 24 at HMCS Cornwallis, in Nova Scotia.

For one of the team—LS Trevin Emberton—the bonspiel has special significance. He was in the rink which captured the top prize in the annual contest last year. Other members: Lt.-Cmdr. Laurie Brown, AB Frank Berger, PO Ron Callaghan, LS Don Edl, LS Wes Young, LS Ed Kochanuk and LS Gordon Pope.

John A. MacAulay, QC, L.L.D. of Winnipeg, chairman of the board of governors of the League of Red Cross Societies, is the first Canadian to hold this position. He was re-elected for another term last October.

LIBERAL DAVID GROOS

Reports on The Election

One very important decision the voters will make April 8 is whether or not Canada is to have steady MAJORITY Government to guide us through the difficulties that are part of 20th Century life.

We've all seen how MINORITY government works, and how ineffective it is. I don't believe a young and vigorous country like ours can afford to have such a government at any time, but particularly not now!

I DO believe the Liberal Party has shown as no other party today does that it has the unity, the leadership, the plans and the men to form a MAJORITY Government. Vote Liberal—vote for David Groos in Victoria.

Sailor Suffers Mystery Injuries

A sailor who was found lying unconscious on a boulevard at Bay and Government early Saturday remains on the seriously ill list in Naden Hospital with multiple injuries, a navy spokesman said last night.

OS Donald Garfield Fraser, 19, of HMCS Skeena, was found unconscious by fellow sailor Glen Rozon HMCS Saguenay, who took him to a nearby apartment. An ambulance was called later.

Naval authorities said last night he is suffering from a broken neck, ruptured kidney, dislocated right hip, badly sprained ankle, broken ribs, bruises, abrasions and internal injuries.

Police do not know what happened to him, but speculate he could have been hit by a car or beaten up.

They have issued an appeal for witnesses to the incident, believed to have happened between 12.30 a.m. and 2 a.m. Saturday.

Choral Society Presents Concert

The first of two spring concerts to be presented by the Victoria Choral Society went on at Victoria High School last night.

The program was all Bach, with the second half perhaps more impressive than the first, and the faster choral parts more meticulous than the slow.

The soloists were soprano Pamela Payer, who was especially good in the aria Dissolve O Heart; contralto Eleanor Duff, whose Into Thy Hands and All Is Fulfilled made a special impression; tenor Peter Yelland and bass Stanley Martin, who was heard to particularly great advantage in Thou Shalt Be With Me Today.

The program, directed by Rodney Webster, will be repeated at 8.15 p.m. today.

Blood Test Doesn't Change For Some Unfortunate Folk

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: When I entered the army in 1913 my blood showed a positive Kahn test. I took 500,000 units of penicillin and was O.K. Now it is positive again. Could this be hereditary? I know of no other way it could have happened.—J. A. L.

We usually give more than 500,000 units of penicillin for a complete treatment for syphilis, but the fact that your blood test became negative the first time is a good sign. It may be that you need further treatment.

It is also possible that you are one of those unfortunate people whose blood test won't change. It happens. But with proper evaluation of your case, and treatment if it is needed

you can at the same time be without any clinical indications of the disease. Enough of the germ is in the blood to make a test positive, but except for that you can be well, and not run a risk of passing the disease on to anyone else.

As to whether your case is hereditary, I'd have no way of knowing.

Dear Doctor: Is it possible to get syphilis from a man who has had relations with a woman yet he does not have the disease himself?

—Mrs. R. J.

I never have known the disease to be passed on in that fashion. While I can imagine circumstances under which I suppose it COULD happen, they would be so extraordinary as to be scarcely believable.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can one ever get cured of trench mouth?—M. M.

Certainly, but the quicker you get to your dentist, the sooner you'll be cured.

Dear Dr. Molner: Does diabetes affect one's nerves? Does it interfere with one's ability sexually?—L. M. M.

Yes, sometimes. There can be "diabetic neuritis" with pains and reduced sensations as well. Hence diabetics should be careful of hot water bags, electric pads and the like. They sometimes can burn themselves because they don't sense how hot the things really are.

A nervous involvement can occur, causing reduced sexual potential.

West Germans Support Britain

LONDON (AP) — Britain won explicit West German support Monday for the idea of quickly setting up a nuclear force of national air, land and sea striking units in NATO.

The defence ministers of Britain and West Germany at the same time joined in expressing support for the American-sponsored project to create an internationally-manned surface fleet of 25 ships armed with Polaris missiles.

A joint communiqué said "it was stressed that the (British-proposed) multinational force concept could be implemented as soon as the NATO command structure for the military con-

Daughter Defies Dream Drops 180 Feet to Death

VANCOUVER — Mrs. Vera Williams dreamed Saturday many people were crying and begged her daughter Leslie, 18, not to go on a hike Sunday.

But Leslie went, with three companions, and before their horrified eyes slipped on a moss-covered rock, fell 30 feet into a pool of West Vancouver's Cypress Creek and was carried over a 150-foot waterfall. Her broken body was found below.

OTTAWA — Donald Watson Fleming, 20, son of the justice minister, was married in a downtown United Church to Mrs. Jayne Perley-Robertson, 34, in whose home he was injured by a gunshot Feb. 2. His father attended. Young Fleming was named co-respondent last fall when lawyer George Perley-Robertson divorced his wife.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Thirty graveyard workers at two cemeteries, whose eighty-day strike postponed a score of burials, will return to work today after voting to accept a 1½-year union contract raising wages by 15 cents an hour. Missile Tests Heard in Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two United States women, the first of more than 20 American prisoners expected to be freed from Cuban jails within six weeks, claim that while in prison they heard Russians test-firing missiles.

"I don't think they could be small ones," Mrs. Geraldine said. "They shook the prison bars in our hands."

The women were released unexpectedly Sunday "with no strings attached," according to James Donovan, the New York lawyer who negotiated their freedom.

Donovan said the other native-born Americans will be released when delivery of $53,000,000 worth of medicine and foods from the U.S. to Cuba is completed. That should take about six weeks, Donovan said.

RAY OF PIGS
The U.S. agreed to exchange the $53,000,000 worth of goods for the release of 1,113 Cubans taken prisoner in the unsuccessful Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba in 1961.

Mrs. Shamma said the Russians are testing missiles at an underground rock quarry six miles from Guanajay Prison.

15 miles from Havana. That is one of the sites where Russians installed intermediate-range missiles before last October's Cuban crisis.

MIGHT PREJUDICE
She said she was instructed not to divulge any information because it might prejudice the Cuban regime against the remaining Cuban prisoners. But she said:

"I hope they don't think I'm going to sugar coat all this treatment we've had. It was awful. We were freed for nothing. If I thought they had paid any ransom for me, I wouldn't have come back."

Strikers' Benefits May Stop

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking printers may be stripped of strike benefits by their international union unless they reach a speedy settlement with city newspapers, it was indicated Monday.

Elmer Brown, the union's international president, said "serious consideration" would be given to halting strike support to the New York printers' Local 6 if it doesn't agree shortly to terms with publishers.

A membership meeting voted narrowly Sunday to reject proposals approved by negotiators, plunging the strike of nearly 3½ months' duration back into stalemate.

Tristanese Off Home

TILBURY, England (AP) — A white liner pulled out of the Thames River Sunday night and 51 men, women and children turned their backs on the 20th century to return to the simple life.

"Money, money, money. Noise, noise, noise. Worry, worry, worry."

That, said 60-year-old Willie Repetto, sums up life in England. He and his fellow islanders were, therefore, glad to be getting back to the farms and fishing boats of Tristan da Cunha, 10 square miles of volcanic rock far out in the South Atlantic.

The Tristanese came to England in the fall of 1961 after a long-dormant volcano flared into action and made the island dangerous.

A Small Fire

ABOUT A MONTH ago, more out of sheer bravado than solid reasoning it now seems, the national headquarters of the Liberal Party announced that neither the Conservative Party nor Real Caouette's Creditistes were forces to be reckoned with in Quebec. La Belle Province, they assured anyone who cared to listen, was ready at last to return to the fold and would give the Grits an overwhelming majority on election day.

Though it is undeniably true that the Tories will be lucky if they retain what few seats they have in Quebec and can perhaps be written off as a serious contender for the vote of the Quebecois, there is little to indicate that the Social Credit Party is losing ground among the French Canadian voters.

Indeed, if the ability to draw and hold the attention of large crowds is any indication of the popularity of the rival political parties, the reverse seems to be the case.

Two weeks ago Mr. Caouette attracted 5,000 listeners to a Quebec City hall who gave him what was described as an enthusiastic hearing. In a follow-up meeting Sunday in the same hall—a meeting designed to destroy whatever it was Mr. Caouette had built there—Liberal leader Lester Pearson managed to persuade only 800 of an original crowd of 2,500 to stay and listen to him.

What made it worse was the fact that this was the major tour de force of the Liberal Party in Quebec in which not only Mr. Pearson occupied the platform, but former Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, Lionel Chevrier, Paul Martin and all 14 Quebec City area Liberal candidates.

Five days ago the Liberals were jubilantly proclaiming that the Pearson election campaign had "caught fire" at his London, Ont., meeting where he drew a crowd estimated anywhere between 6,000 and 10,000.

If this were so, it appears that the Habitants have done quite a job in dousing Mr. Pearson's flame. On the other hand, perhaps it just burned itself out.

In the Shade

NOT THE FAVORITE, Sweden, but Russia has won the 1963 world hockey championship, beating Canada in the last game and edging into first place by a slight goal margin.

This country's representatives, the Trail Smoke Eaters, finished in fourth place. This is the poorest showing yet for Canada in either world or Olympic hockey, but probably we shall have to get used to such results. Canada's national winter sport has become a European game also with great and improving strides being noted on the Continent.

The Trail team did its best but it was not good enough under the present conditions of this tournament. Emphasis on professionalism in Canada has put amateur hockey at a discount, with little chance of coping with the rising standards of European play.

Sensible Changes

THE MORE important of a number of amendments to the Motor Vehicle Act introduced in the legislature can be expected to have general approval. They make good sense.

One, as anticipated, calls for front-seat safety belts in all cars made after the end of this year and sold in British Columbia. This is a gradual approach to a proven way of saving lives, but it can be expected that in a decade virtually all cars as a result will be equipped with belts, and the habit of using them will be widespread.

Removal of a section of the law requiring a driver in some instances to prove himself innocent of speeding—which would in many cases be impossible, no matter how invalid the charge—is to be applauded. This section has rarely been used, but it is far from being in accord with proper justice.

Application of mandatory licence suspension in additional categories of careless driving and accidents caused by following too close will be welcomed by all who see the need for bringing the rude and reckless under better rein on B.C. roads and highways. The threat of suspension is usually a much more effective deterrent than the fines that are normally levied for such offences, and which to the comfortably-off are of little consequence.

The loss by ambulance drivers of their right to use sirens, although they may still use their flashing lights, will not one would think greatly cut down the speed they can achieve in today's traffic; doctors moreover have asserted that it is more important to get patients to hospital with as little disturbance as possible than to convey them there in great haste. The legislature, however, could well consider the point some ambulance companies have made, that seconds can count on the way to answer calls, especially if an inhalator is needed.

Enabling the authorities to seize licence plates instead of impounding vehicles after some major accidents also is a forward step—particularly as far as the police are concerned. Conceivably it will in due course eliminate the junkyard beside Victoria's police station, and, from the drivers' side, many of the vehicles that find their way into impoundment are so wrecked as to be fit only for scrapping anyway.

Called Off

BECAUSE THE "procedure" has been misunderstood, they say, the Liberals have withdrawn the "truth" squad they set to dog the prime minister at every election meeting. It would have been much more fitting had they acknowledged their bad taste.

What this group was doing was to follow Mr. Diefenbaker round so that, in effect if not by actual word, they could assail him as a liar.

It was a contemptible election gimmick that has failed, and not because of misunderstanding but because public reaction obviously condemned it as insulting and wholly out of place in Canadian politics.

One supposes Mr. Pearson had the wit to realize that what he condoned in the first place would win him few votes. It might well be, also, that this squad of snoopers found the truth they heard to be too much for them.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and slaps, and scaling wax..."

By TOM TAYLOR

I WOULDN'T know for certain what might be the best known address of all, anywhere, but a missive reaching my desk has no doubts. It is franked "The World's Most Famous Address."

And it comes to me from the convention bureau of the Greater Niagara Chamber of Commerce. Two of them, indeed, to drive home the point. Offhand one can think of rather notable addresses, 10 Downing Street, the White House, the Kremlin, et al. which possibly might ring a bell in far corners of the earth. The postmark "Niagara Falls" is of course a place-name, which I suppose invites a different perspective.

For a reason I shall touch on in a moment it may be that Reno, or in more recent years Las Vegas, might be even better known than Niagara. But now that Gretta Green has lost its lure Niagara Falls is the accepted lodestone, they say, of all honeymooners, although conceivably a couple starts off they might ask, "Where, exactly, is it?"

I am loath of course to think for a moment that Victoria even without a special frank on the envelope, isn't among the most celebrated of all cities. George Warren always assures me it is, and he is an authority from whom I would not venture to dissent.

But about the relation of Niagara Falls to Las Vegas.

This missive is, to tell me that a six-foot barrel filled with styrofoam to give it buoyancy would be dropped last Friday onto the ice at the foot of the Horseshoe Falls, one of the river's two cataracts.

It is an experiment with a deep purpose a year hence. If when the ice breaks up the barrel is swept along under a certain bridge a sweepstake will be organized in 1964, date, hour, minute and second the barrel reaches the bridge.

Barrel-river lotteries are not new, we have had them in B.C. in the past. But the reason d'être of the Niagara sweepstake is something different; it is to provide funds for the new Brook University to be located in that area.

Here, I thought at once, might be the answer to our local university students' prayers; until my guilt overwhelmed me. I bought a prize drawing ticket from a small schoolboy, yesterday, and the enormity of my offence reminds me that B.C. is so scrupulously pure of spirit one must not even whisper the word sweepstake.

The government which has no scruples about deriving profits from the liquor trade, horse-racing betting and kindred pursuits, would hang me from a tree if I rolled a barrel and caused thousands of ticket-buyers thereby to become sinners.

I am advised anyway that on Vancouver Island our rivers are like the provincial conscience, too pure and gentle to sweep a barrel along to a lotteried destination, and I suppose if, during the attorney-general, we tried the Fraser then UBC would claim priority. Ah well, it was a nice dream for a moment, and if I must excuse myself, all in the interests of that famous alma mater to be, the University of Victoria.

The Packsack

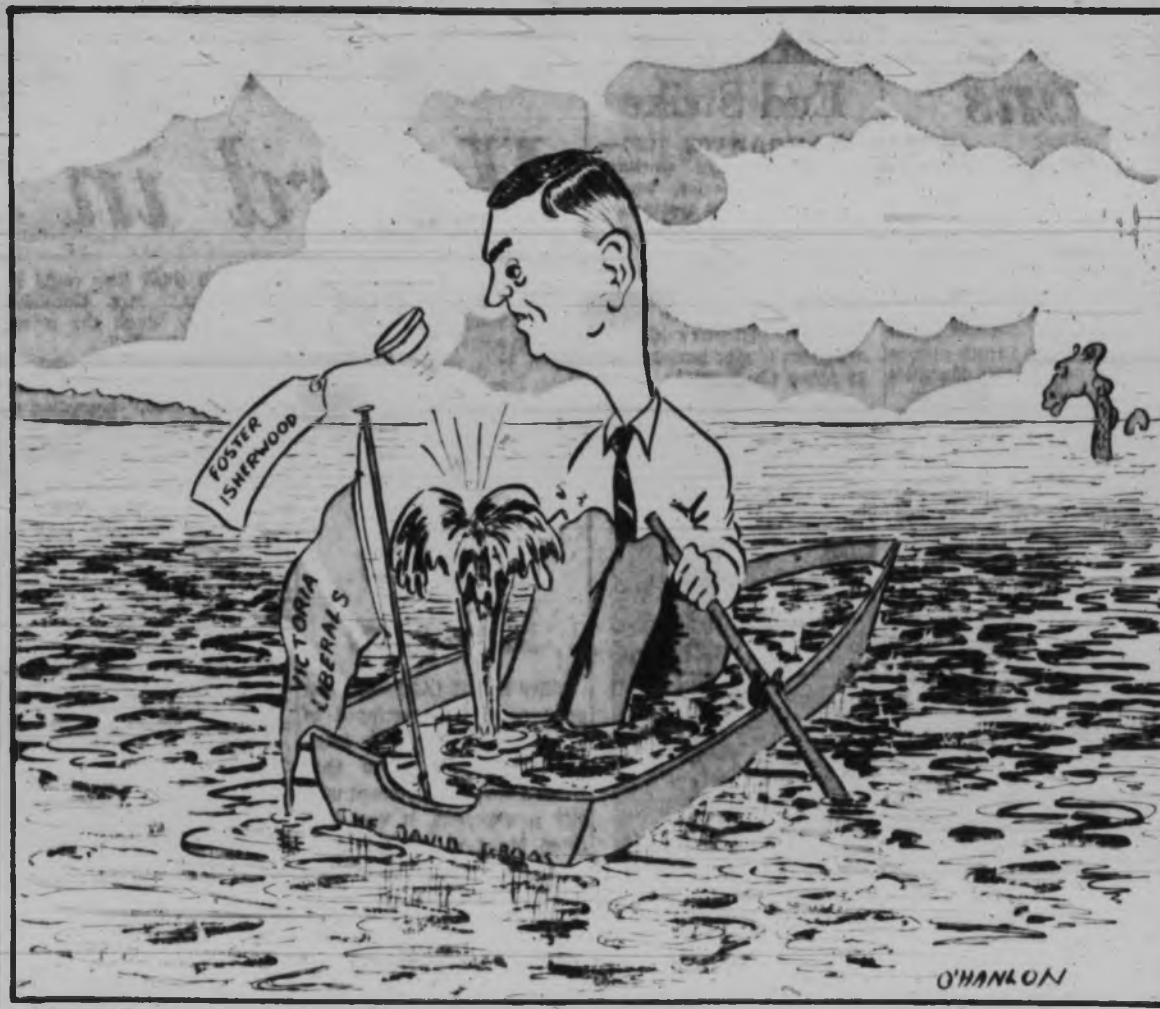

OF GREGORY CLARK

DESPITE the tremendous strides that have been taken in the past half century in the emancipation of women and the acceptance of the gentle sex in so many of the tougher and rougher areas of life formerly reserved for men, the girls simply have to face the fact that they belong fundamentally to a sub-species, as far as wading in puddles is concerned.

At noon hour, the pavement was lined with curb-high pools and puddles of icy water dammed here and there by barriers of slush and chunks of ice. Those boys on their way to school who were blessed with knee-high rubber boots were enjoying their natural and ancient heritage. They were sloshing magnificently. The girls in their galoshes were keeping to the sidewalk very maidenly, and without any sense of discrimination. All except one.

Her galoshes were a little higher than most. And in the wake of three boys, she was sloshing with the best of them. There is, as anybody knows, a delicacy about the female foot, as compared with the male. Her foot skidded on a little cake of ice. She sat down in the icy puddle. And there, shocked as must be all of the fair sex who find themselves out of their depth when transgressing in male preserves, she stood faced with the awful choice of hastening home, or else sitting on a damp seat all afternoon not only without the sympathy of her classmates, but having to endure giggles.

Outlook for the Soviet Union

Right Fights Losing Battles

By ISAAC DEUTSCHER

(Second of Two Articles)

WHAT is the assumed rival of independent political thought in the Soviet Union going to bring? Is it likely to produce divisions in society—and if so along what lines? How may the Chinese challenge to Khrushchevism affect the internal political ferment? And how is the further evolution of the Soviet Union likely to be reflected in its attitude towards the West? Western observers of the Soviet scene are often struck by what they describe as the gradual Americanization of the Soviet way of life. They notice a general preoccupation with material comfort, weariness with ideology and a craving for entertainment, widespread profiteering and blackmarketing, and a certain cynicism and pessimism among the young, especially among the Soviet beatniks, who look sometimes like cousins of the Western counterparts.

These observers conclude that Soviet society, or at least its upper strata, are undergoing a process of embourgeoisment, and they embrace the hope that as the Soviet Union takes its place among the "have-nations" (while China remains a "have-not"), its revolutionary dynamism will subside, and then a genuine rapprochement and coexistence between East and West may become possible.

This view seems to me erroneous. It contains a grain of truth, but no more. The general preoccupation with material comfort is real enough; and so (after a half a century of wars, revolutions and the Stalinist terror) is the longing for a relaxed, easy-going life. Yet, the so-called Americanization, though it is connected to some extent with the Soviet ambition to catch up with the U.S. industrially.

The little profiteer, the beatnik, the stillvaga and the enthusiastic admirer of the latest Western pop song and dance, who catch so quickly the eye of the Western visitor, all of them are only marginal characters. The structure of society, with public ownership more than ever predominant and with planning and continuous economic expansion as its established mode of functioning, remains essentially dynamic and revolutionary.

The basic elements of urban Russia, especially the workers, are recapturing the egalitarianism of the early years of the revolution, while the individualism is politically inert and declining. Even the privileged managerial groups have had to bow to the resurgent egalitarianism of the masses.

All this is somehow incompatible with genuine "Americanization." One Western observer put the issue in a nutshell by saying that whereas in the West people normally "look up to the Joneses," in the Soviet Union the members of the privileged groups have to "look down to the Joneses," that is to respect and appease the egalitarian aspirations of the "lower classes." This testifies to a renaissance of the revolutionary ethos and puts narrow limits to any embourgeoisment.

Over wide areas of social and political life, the open and latent conflict between the acquisitiveness of the few and the egalitarianism of the many is developing into a dominant factor, which is likely to determine the alignments and divisions of the coming period. One may say that a new Left and a new Right are emerging, although it may take years it was with the die-hards of before they find shape and crystallize. To the extent to which both Right and Left accept the post-capitalist order of society, this new alignment can have little, if anything, in common with the party political patterns of the West. The Soviet Right stands for the preservation of as much managerial privilege as possible and for bureaucratic control of the body politic; whereas the new Left is bound to struggle for more equality and more freedom.

The centre group, for which Khrushchev speaks, has tried to act as umpire. But the strength of this centre group so far has consisted only in a relative and unstable balance between Right and Left, a balance due to the fact that while the Right, associated as it is with the die-hards of before they find shape and crystallize, the Left has not yet accepted the post-capitalist order of society, this new alignment can have little, if anything, in common with the party political patterns of the West. The Soviet Right stands for the preservation of as much managerial privilege as possible and for bureaucratic control of the body politic; whereas the new Left is bound to struggle for more equality and more freedom.

Thus, the prospect, as I see it, is not one of a nation which, overcoming material scarcity, settles into bourgeois moderation. It is rather of an increasingly dynamic society to which even its growing wealth may give fresh stimuli for wreaking new revolutionary changes in its own midst and in its environment. Generally speaking, it is an historical half-truth, if not a complete one, that the "have-nations" are always inclined to undisturbed enjoyment of satiety or to contentment and moderation. This has certainly not been true of the bourgeois West, where the wealthy and the powerful have, as a rule, shown the greatest urge to accumulate more wealth and more power.

In the Soviet Union the accumulation of wealth and the growth of national self-confidence are coinciding with the re-emergence of radical revolutionary currents of thought which are bound to have their impact on Soviet foreign policy as well.

This is not to suggest that a more egalitarian or socialist-minded Soviet Union will seek war or will be more eager to risk it. But it will be eager to reassess frankly its basic antagonism to the bourgeois West. It will probably be less willing to drive power political bargains in disregard of Communist principle or at the expense of foreign revolutionary movements, bargains such as Stalin once drove with Hitler and Churchill and Roosevelt and as Khrushchev has tried to strike with Eisenhower and Kennedy.

Moscow will still proclaim that the "peaceful coexistence of opposed social systems" is its major objective; but it will not be prepared to make ideological concessions in order to secure coexistence. This assessment of the trend of the future seems to me more realistic than the hopes for a rapprochement between East and West based on the dubious prospect of the embourgeoisment of the Soviet Union.

In this context the Chinese challenge to Khrushchevism may acquire new significance. The Chinese are evidently banking on the radicalization of the social and political atmosphere in the U.S.S.R. Although their chances against Khrushchev are not at all promising at present, Mao and his men may be acting on a long term calculation and in the hope that Soviet policy is bound to evolve in their direction.

They may be right in this, although even if Soviet policy were to move closer to Maoism over the years it would still reflect different national realities and would probably speak a different language. Mao's crude and coarse radicalism expresses China's poverty and backwardness and the mood of a state which the West has persisted in treating as an outcast, and which in return views the West not merely with contempt but with incomprehension. The new Russian radicalism, when it comes to the top, is likely to prove far more educated, intelligent and subtle, far more strongly inspired by the tradition of classical Marxism, and far closer in touch with the complex realities of the second half of the century.

But the long term prospect outlined here seems to provide a frame also for the Russo-Chinese controversy. In the next few years that controversy is almost certain to grow in sharpness and to lead to dramatic crises—it may even assume the bitterness that the Soviet-Yugoslav feud had under Stalin. But the long term trend in the Soviet Union may well render this controversy just as pointless as the Soviet-Yugoslav feud had become after Stalin; and then the two Communist giants may reunite once again.

Finally, the condition in which the West will find itself during the middle and late 1960s will be of decisive importance for the developments in the Communist world. If the West succeeds, by and large, in maintaining its economic prosperity, the new Communist radicalism will hardly be able to overlap strongly into the West. Its playground would then remain more or less confined to Asia, Africa, and Latin America and this would be a vast playground in any case. But if the West were to be hit by deep slumps and mass unemployment, the second post-Stalin decade may see Communism carrying the struggle back into the enemy's camp and throwing all its immensely enlarged resources into an onslaught on the social order of the West.

It is unlikely that Nehru will be able to do this. He has been too much discredited by his collapse. This is an aspect of the situation which has not escaped the best minds of India. An action leading to a complete change of regime accordingly becomes a distinct possibility.

When Mao Tse-tung's soldiers swept down the southern slopes of the Himalaya mountains, Nehru was deserted by all his friends. They, like Norodom Sihanouk, now rushed to help the winner. This will compel India in the foreseeable future to re-appraise its entire policy.

Washington

Power Contest

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WHILE hopefully the controversy within the Atlantic alliance is still put in terms of a friendly debate, more and more it emerges as a contest of sheer power.

A team of specialists has left for Europe for the first preliminary soundings looking to the next round of tariff negotiations. Supposedly this "Kennedy round" will enable full advantage of the liberalized U.S. trade act to broaden the current of commerce between the two sides of the Atlantic.

But long before this can happen decisions may be reached within the European Economic Community that will close the door to any trade expansion. Farm products and farm prices are the great looming obstacle.

If the European farm bloc prevails and prices are fixed at the highest subsidized level of the German producer, with an external tariff wall keeping out American feed grains, the consequences are unforeseeable. The pessimists say it will mean United States troops will leave Europe within two years or less. And beyond that is the "vampire shadow" of a new isolationism. If President de Gaulle really wants to force the United States out and establish an independent Europe as a third force, agriculture is the surest way to achieve his end.

This was the kind of plain talk Walter Hallstein, head of the commission of the European community, heard from Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman when he was in Washington. Speaking for his client, the American farmer, the secretary spelled out in the bluntest language the relationship between farm exports and foreign policy.

He used, of course, the now-famous example of the chicken exports that have been cut back within the space of a few months by more than 60 per cent. This was done by raising the import duty from 4½ cents a pound to 12½ cents. Thus, precipitously, American chicken raisers lost $500,000 of a market that they had created through assembly-line techniques of growing and shipping.

The political rub, as Freeman underscored in his private talk with Hallstein, comes from the fact that this market has been developed primarily in Arkansas, Georgia and several other southern states. Those states are represented in the Senate by key committee chairmen who exercise extraordinary authority over America's foreign and defence policy. With the South turning against its traditional free trade policy, as a result of the growth of textile and other industry in that region, the blow to the chicken market can have serious repercussions.

But this is nothing as compared to the issue of feed grains that are the bulk of agricultural exports to Europe adding up to $1 billion to $1.5 billion a year. Under the complex system of variable levies agreed to among the six European countries making up the Common Market the common price for one must be the price for all. Should this price be set in the next few weeks at the high, subsidized German price, ultimately European tariffs will shut out American grains.

In France, where production cost and prices are much lower, the French farmer will see a bonanza ahead. The estimate here is that 6,000,000 additional acres can be brought into wheat production. That would mean self-sufficiency for Europe and more—an overflow much as has long embarrassed the United States.

The basic fact is that the revolution in agriculture beginning in this country 20 years ago is only getting a start in Europe. The same methods will produce the same revolutionary results we have seen here: mountainous surpluses threatening the price structure and sending the farmer into the political arena to demand his fair share of the national income.

Freeman stressed to Hallstein the importance of getting a quantitative agreement on agricultural products until in the "Kennedy round" of tariff negotiations a more enduring formula can be achieved. Hallstein expressed the hope that the chicken market can be shared between Europe and the United States, with action taken to undo some of the damage that followed an abrupt tipping of the tariff on a product on which thousands of farmers had built their future.

One thing in all this is certain. The revolution in agriculture can't be halted. European farmers are beginning to copy American assembly-line techniques in chicken raising. Tinkering between country and country or even between bloc and bloc on tariff rates and production quotas will not suffice. Nothing short of a world food conference facing up to the new revolution and the paradox of surpluses in the face of hunger and want will get close to solving the riddle.

Isherwood Starts Campaign Tonight

Independent Victoria candidate Foster Isherwood will start his election campaign today with the first of a series of television appearances. He will give five-minute talks at 6:25 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays on Channel 6. He will make personal appearances during the last two weeks of the campaign.

There I Was—Flat on My Back . . .

Flat on his back but still working is Sidney Smith, federal election campaign manager for Foster Isherwood. Mr. Smith is in St. Joseph's Hospital because of an ulcer. With him here are Nurse Elsa Schwarz and Joseph Grandmaison, assistant campaign manager.—(Ryan Bros.)

More to Farms

Conservatives have promised that Canada's farmers will receive a fair share of the national income. Esquimalt-Saanich Tory candidate George Chatterton said last night.

He told a meeting in the Saanich Agricultural Hall, attended by 31 persons, the Liberals spent $363,000,000 for Canadian agriculture from 1953 to 1957, and the Conservatives, in a similar period of time paid more than $700,000,000.

OTHER IMPORTANT

"For years it was considered in Ottawa farming stopped at the Rockies, but Alvin Hamilton realized agriculture in B.C. and other parts of Canada is important," Mr. Chatterton said.

"One evidence is the amendments to the Farm Credit Act made in the last session. Now practically all the farmers in B.C. are eligible to a loan up to $27,500 at five per cent for 30 years."

VAST GLUT SEEN

Mr. Chatterton charged Lester Pearson is "trying to bribe" the Prairie grain grower with his promise of a $2-per-bushel price for No. 1 Northern wheat.

"This policy will cost the Canadian taxpayer $100,000,000 annually by way of a subsidy, will benefit largely the big wheat grower, will cause a vast glut of wheat and will raise the price of feed grains to the detriment of dairy, beef, hog, turkey and poultry farmers in B.C. and every part of Canada," he said.

At a meeting in Sooke community hall, attended by 13 persons, Esquimalt-Saanich's Liberal candidate Robert Ostler said the incoming government should have "a hard look" at the possibility of creating a Canadian merchant navy.

Shipyards on both the Pacific and Atlantic coasts have proven their ability to build ships. Construction and operation of a merchant navy could be another avenue toward increased employment in shipyards and aboard the ships plying the seas, he said.

"I feel Canada would also profit from operation of the merchant fleet," Mr. Ostler said.

The New Democratic Party's Esquimalt-Saanich candidate, John Windsor, spoke 16:39 persons in St. Andrew's Hall, at Sidney.

"The NDP is determined to bring Canadian economy back under our own control," he said. "It will take time because there will be no arbitrary seizures."

YEAR BY YEAR

"It will come year by year, through a Canadian development fund, in which all can invest their savings so control in key industries can gradually be bought out."

Mr. Windsor stressed his belief no majority government will be elected, and mentioned NDP policy announced by T. C. Douglas in Nanaimo that the party will co-operate with any group to carry on a good administration in Ottawa.

The massive Bhakra Dam in India's Himalayan foothills took 15 years to build and cost $300,000,000. It is 710 feet high.

Charman Pledges Action For Sport Fishing Chief

By JACK FRY

Victoria Conservative candidate Eric Charman said last night he will press for appointment of a director of Pacific Coast sport fishing, especially to look after interests of B.C.'s sports fishermen.

Mr. Charman said he envisaged a new post which would 12-mile territorial waters pro-operate in liaison with, "but not pos-

in subservience to the Director of the Pacific Area for the Federal Fisheries Department."

An immediate inquiry should be started into commercial net fishing in Juan de Fuca Strait in order to bring in recommendations in time for the forthcoming fishing season, he said.

Mr. Charman was the first of nine candidates in the two federal ridings here whose sports fishing views are being sought by the Amalgamated Conservation Society.

The Tory candidate called for an immediate step-up in salmon rehabilitation, although he thought all projects would not have to be as extensive as the Big Qualicum project.

"In view of Vancouver Island's enormous interest in the field of sport fishing, we should try and establish a policy whereby one member of the advisory board of the Pacific International Salmon Commission would be an appointee from Vancouver Island," he said.

He favored an immediate study with a fresh outlook into

$135,000 Allotted For Inner Harbor

Mayor R. B. Wilson was in city hall officials termed the inclusion of a specific amount for Inner Harbor improvement as a step in the right direction.

The city is trying to get both federal and provincial governments to contribute substantial amounts to building of a new lower promenade which would strengthen the Causeway wall and enable dredging of the Inner Harbor.

The letter from Public Works Minister David Fulton gave no further details of the breakdown on spending. But

LETTERS to the Editor

To be considered for publication in whole or in part letters must be of subject of general interest, not more than 200 words in length and, if signed with a pen-name must be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

Is there to be no check or protest against the progressive contamination of the English language by the creation of new words—of which perhaps "walkathon" is the latest example?

Marathon is the name of a plain some 26 miles from Athens where the Greeks won a famous battle. The messenger carrying the news to Athens ran the whole distance at full speed, announced the victory and fell dead in the marketplace. From this arises the common use of "marathon" for any long-distance race. So far (perhaps) so good. But when we proceed to

Reasonable Questioning

In your report on the public accounts committee one reads that a Victoria MLA has objected to "this type of inquisition, of a senior official," referring to the questioning in committee of the director of provincial highways construction.

Lead Rise In Prices

TORONTO (CP) Banks and other stronger main list stocks continued to lead the stock market higher and push the industrial index nearly 2 1/2 points higher during moderate trading.

Royal Bank posted the largest gain among financial issues, rising 1/2 point.

Phantom Industries was another industrial feature as the issue gained a point to a new high of 6 1/2 after trading more than 15,000 shares.

Ontario Steel also hit a new high for the year when it rose 1/2 to 17 1/2.

Main list losers included Building Products and Canada Packers. Each off 1/2.

Canadian Celanese 3/4 and International Utilities 1/2.

Senior base metals were led lower by Falconbridge, off 1/2 to 58 1/2.

In western oils, Pacific Petroleum rose 1/4 and Bailey Selburn 1/4 to 38 1/2.

Calgary Petroleum and Edmonton slipped 1/4.

Gain by Steelco

MONTREAL (CP) Stocks were mixed in fairly slow trading.

Trans-Canada Fund rose 1/4 to 11 in heavy trading, while CIP rose 1/4 to 2 1/2.

Shell Oil dropped 1/4 to 16 1/2 and du Pont fell 1/4 to 11 1/2.

In times, S.I. Paper Mills gained 1/4 to 87 cents in active trading.

Wall St. Weakens

NEW YORK (AP) The stock market went through another one of its slow and moderate declines.

The list seemed to lack incentive despite another rise in weekly steel production and news that manufacturing employment in mid-February ended a seven-month decline.

Aluminum, steel, railroads, oils, chemicals, electronics, rubbers and electrical equipments were among the losers. Tobacco, building materials, and aerospace issues were mixed.

Copper Soo Busy

VANCOUVER - Copper Soos, a new mining listing, went more than half way to establishing the year's first 1,000-share volume in one session. Sales of 11,800 took the price up to 24 cents at the close.

Also active with 211,300 volume was Kootenay Base Metal which closed down 1/4 cents at 2 1/2.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (AP) Stock prices were mixed in a session of moderate trading.

Record for Westcoast

Pipeline Filling Up

By HARRY YOUNG Colonist Business Editor

January was a record month for Westcoast Transmission Co., whose big pipeline from the Peace River country brings natural gas to B.C. communities and the international boundary.

Its main line delivered an average of 446,000,000 cubic feet a day during January, and in one peak 21-hour period it made record-breaking deliveries of 474,000,000 cubic feet, an amount exceeding the present rated capacity of the line.

HYDRO SALES UP

In a nine-month report to shareholders, Westcoast says its sales to B.C. Hydro were up 12.1 per cent in January. Natural Gas up 7.7 and to El Paso Natural Gas up 14.4 per cent.

During the period the company's net income rose to $1,861,848 from $1,333,232 a year ago, and further earnings from the company's share in the Alberta Natural Gas Line Kingsgate system are to be expected through dividends from that company and Saratoga Processing Co.

ALBERTA NATURAL GAS is paying dividends of 80 cents a year on its shares of which Westcoast owns 244,000.

Westcoast also owns 125,000 shares (25 per cent) of Saratoga Processing and 48 per cent share interest in Western Pacific Products and Crude Oil Pipeline Ltd., which at the end of the year was making deliveries averaging 30,000 barrels of oil a day to B.C. refineries.

Westcoast estimates its holdings in subsidiary and associated companies at more than $19,000,000.

Bank Chief Urges Three-Way Drive

OTTAWA (CP) — Louis Rasminsky, governor of the Bank of Canada, called Sunday for sustained and vigorous efforts by government, industry and labor to keep up the momentum of improvement in Canada's balance of payments.

He noted in his annual report that last year Canada's current-account deficit—that is, the amount by which imports of goods and services exceeded exports—narrowed to $850,000,000 from $940,000,000 in 1961.

INCREASE NORMAL

Mr. Rasminsky said that the decline occurred in a period of economic expansion in Canada when, on the basis of recent experience, it would have been normal for the deficit to increase.

His report continued: "I believe that the lower exchange value of the Canadian dollar, taken in conjunction with the degree of price stability we have been able to maintain, has played a helpful role in the improvement which has occurred, and that if we take advantage of our opportunities we can expect to derive additional benefits from this and other actions that have been taken affecting our balance of payments."

Airport Bomb Hurts Clerks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A bomb exploded in the overseas section of the post office at San Francisco International Airport Monday, injuring two clerks, apparently seriously.

Postmaster John Fixa said the explosive package apparently arrived from overseas.

A small fire touched off by the blast was extinguished by other employees.

Unsigned Letters Useless

The secretary-treasurer of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Society is glad to get letters of comment or criticism about the Victoria Day parade. But she has one small request. Please sign your name.

"It's difficult because I can't answer them," said Mrs. Ethel Bishop. "There are quite a lot of things I could explain, if I could phone back."

For instance, she said, big down town department stores come in for a lot of criticism from such citizens as Native Victorian and Lifetime Resident for not putting floats in the parade.

If she could get in touch with them, Mrs. Bishop said, she could explain that the stores do support the association financially, but they find other forms of advertising pay better than floats. "Labor is so expensive."

He was remanded to March 25 for sentence.

Fines on Two Charges Total $400 for Driver

Fines totalling $400 were imposed Monday on a man convicted of impaired driving and driving while his licence was under suspension.

Magistrate William Ostler, in Esquimalt, sentenced the court, fined Clarke E. Maguire, HMCS Skeena, $300 on the impaired charge and $100 on the other, and suspended Maguire's licence for 18 months.

Court had previously been told that on March 2 Clarke drove his car up on the curb of Lampson Street, hit a parked vehicle and continued on the curb for 183 feet.

Douglas Thomas Booth, HMCS New Glasgow, pleaded guilty in Esquimalt court to theft under $50 in a Jan. 25 incident involving two automobile wheels with tires and hub caps.

He was remanded to March 25 for sentence.

Kenneth Whitehead, 501 Niagara, was fined $75 in Esquimalt court for failing to stop and give his name and address at the scene of an accident. Court was told that in the March 2 incident about $125 damage was done to a parked car and $25 to Whitehead's.

The techniques of two Victoria painters oil on wood and water color on paper—may vary quite a bit, but their subjects and their steadfast objective style don't.

Mrs. Isabel Hobbs and Miss H. V. Foster have had joint exhibitions of their paintings before, but yesterday's display at the Cypress Gallery, 618 Fort, was their first in the downtown area. The exhibition was officially opened by Dr. Clifford Carl, curator of the provincial museum.

Chairman

New chairman of Zone A-4 of Lions Club district 19 is Jack Tang, 43, of Victoria, past president of Victoria Chinatown Lions Club. He was named chairman of zone, which includes Vancouver Island and Olympic Peninsula in Washington, during weekend Lions Club spring conference in New Westminster.

Both painters are natives of England and came to live in B.C. years ago. Mrs. Hobbs has been in Victoria since 1914. Miss Foster first lived in Cobble Hill for 15 years, then in Victoria for the past five.

Mrs. Hobbs uses the grain of her wood "canvases" as an integral part of her paintings. The Yellow Sea is the most striking example with the grain suggesting floating cloud movement and reflection of a non-existent sun on the waves.

Miss Foster has always used water colors to express her talent. Her Decoration Autumn displays, despite subdued colors, a sizeable impact on viewers especially as she departs ever so slightly from her objective style.

Both painters have a similar interest in portraying nature—birds, flowers and trees make up the majority of the themes.

When do they paint? "When the spirit moves me I paint for two or more hours five days a week," said Miss Foster.

She said she paints "as a profession, but I don't make a living at it."

Mrs. Hobbs is a former teacher of art. She said she finds there is more interest in painting nowadays because "with all this disturbance in the world today people like to be calmed by looking at paintings."

She paints only "when I see something I want to paint."

She spent one day a week for more than a year in 1942 and 1943 at the bedside of the then ailing Emily Carr.

"My, we couldn't agree on anything, but still we were good friends."

Victoria Sportsman H. F. Talbot, 51, Dies

Harry Farris Talbot, a native-born Victorian, died in New Westminster Saturday at 51.

Mr. Talbot spent most of his life in Victoria but was well known in Duncan sports circles, where he played basketball and softball.

He was a familiar sports fisherman at Brentwood Bay, and is a former owner of Cook and Talbot Oil Burners, Limited. He was a member of the Elks Club.

He is survived by his widow, Nora; a daughter, Mrs. Norven Farrow, and three sons, Raymond, Ken-

Illegal Betting 'Into Many Millions'

TORONTO (CP) — Illegal bookmaking has been in times reached "staggering" figures, Mr. Justice W. D. Roach said Monday in his royal commission report on crime in the province.

The report tabled in the legislature cited betting figures running into many millions of dollars a year.

NO SYNDICATE

Mr. Justice Roach said he found no evidence of monopoly-controlled syndicate crime, and no organized crime that was "alarming" except for bookmaking and gaming.

In the gaming field, the leading figures were Joseph McDermott and Vincent Feeley, who had become wealthy by the time they were convicted last year of conspiracy to obtain police information.

"Organized illegal gaming and bookmaking seem to go hand-in-hand," the investigator said. "It is impossible for the evidence available to me to determine what the volume of illegal bookmaking has been in the 71-year-old Ontario Court of Appeal judge found that gamblers have had a happy hunting ground with "social" club charters, aided in the past by slow-moving machinery in the provincial secretary's department.

Tougher and more co-ordinated action against gamblers was recommended by the judge, whose report follows 66 days of hearings last year as a one-man commission.

TOUGHER ACTION

Two high police officers linked in evidence with gambling were hit by the commissioner. He recommended the removal of Deputy Commissioner James Bartlett of the Ontario Provincial Police and said the "usefulness" of Insp. Allan Stringer of Peterborough has ended.

Roach referred to entries made in Bartlett's diary that linked him to bribery attempts by convicted gamblers Vincent Feeley and Joseph McDermott. The justice said the explanations were "feeble" and Bartlett's story "just too fantastic to be credible."

He suggested study of the evidence against four other men, including two suspected former police officers, with a view to possible prosecution.

The report said the Mafia is not a factor in Ontario organized crime, despite some suggestions to this effect.

FISHED EXPORTS

In 1959 Bulgaria exported 110 kinds of goods, but today sends abroad some 600 types of machinery, including many items of machinery.

Police said there was evidence the husband, William Black, had been drinking.

Black's sister, Sheila, found the bodies of Black and his wife Jean, 39. The Blacks had been married 12 years. They had no children.

Two Crime Probe Targets Quit Ontario Police Force

TORONTO (UPI) — James

Bartlett, deputy commissioner of the Ontario provincial police, resigned Monday hours before the report of the royal commission on crime was tabled in the legislature.

Allan Stringer, commanding officer of the Peterborough district, also resigned. Both resignations were effective immediately.

ately and were accepted by the Ontario provincial police commissioner, Eric Silk.

Justice Wilfrid Roach, head of the one-man inquiry, recommended Bartlett be removed from the force because his "purported explanations" of bribery charges "simply do not explain his conduct and leave him in an aura of suspicion and distrust."

Roach referred to entries made in Bartlett's diary that linked him to bribery attempts by convicted gamblers Vincent Feeley and Joseph McDermott. The justice said the explanations were "feeble" and Bartlett's story "just too fantastic to be credible."

Indians Ask Hospital At Fort St. James

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Indians from northern B.C. have called on all levels of government for construction of a hospital at Fort St. James.

A resolution to the North American Indian Brotherhood said that in a few cases sick persons have died before they reached the nearest hospital, at Vanderhoof, 43 miles south of Fort St. James.

"It is not only needed for the Necanicum village, but also for the villages of Techie, Portage, Pinchie, Takla Lake, Bear Lake, Fort Graham, Fort Ward and Garmanson, Landing."

"All people, both white and Indian, number over 2,500 with not even a resident doctor."

The resolution said taxi fare to the Vanderhoof Hospital from Fort St. James is $20.

Try-Again Walkers Make It

Two 13-year-old boys who started the 50-mile walk over the Malahat March 9, only to have to quit at the 35-mile mark, made it into the office of The Daily Colonist early Sunday, their goal, accomplished.

Damage $1,200 In Collision

Police estimated about $1,200 damage was done Saturday night when a car hit another which was making a left turn and knocked it into a parked car on Sidney's Third Street.

No one was injured.

John James Roscoe of 9631 Eighth was making a left turn when the left side of his car was hit by a car driven by Norman Pearson of 10222 Third. Roscoe's car was knocked into a parked car owned by Gilbert Kitchener of 9972 Third.

Reg Ogden, 366 Conway, and David Baker, 1520 Interurban, arrived 19 hours after leaving the 50-mile mark. They were not out for a speedy trip they just wanted to finish.

"We stopped often. My leg was sore," said young Ogden.

Garage Burns, Home Blistered

Fire of unknown origin gutted a garage and the side of a house at 1140 Balmoral Saturday night.

Firemen estimated damage at between $700 and $1,000. While investigating, the Third's Roscoe's car was knocked into a parked car owned by Gilbert Kitchener of 9972 Third.

He said they are sparingly along the way... "during the last few miles it got cold."

"We both feel tired but it's good to have made the hike," said David Baker.

Reg plans to enter the Colonist Walkathon, "providing I have any feet left."

Dave doesn't think he will. Both were sure of one thing. They were going home for a good sleep.

The boys said there were three hikers behind them and one in front during the march but all gave up. They were driven to the starting point by Reg's father, Kenneth Ogden.

He met them again at the top of the Malahat and followed them in.

Had the boys done any training for the trip? "Just the 35 miles we walked last week when we didn't make it," said Reg.

BMC teams front-wheel drive with its sideways engine, for surer traction than any other small car on the road! Louisville Lip Unhurt

Sonny Liston's ailing knee has forced postponement of his April 4 heavyweight title fight with Floyd Patterson, but the Louisville Lip is healthy as ever.

Cassius Clay, unabashed by his narrow victory over Doug Jones last week, grandly offered to fly to Miami and take Liston's place.

"Tell Floyd not to worry, and to stay in training, 'cause I'll be down to take Liston's place," he told reporters.

Liston, who hurt his knee swiping a golf club, packed up and headed for Chicago, where he will wait a week to see if the knee responds, then check with doctors.

The injury appears to cancel any hope of a bout in Miami Beach, which will be well past its tourist peak by the time the fight comes off.

Liston's been saying he could fight me on one leg and blindfold," Patterson said. "Surely a little thing like a bad knee wouldn't stop him."

Chiefs Lose Victory Navy Protest Sticks

First game of the Esquimalt Amateur Hockey League final was settled in the committee room yesterday. Navy and Esquimalt will try and settle the second on the ice tonight at 8 p.m. at Esquimalt Sports Centre.

A protest by Navy over Esquimalt's 8-7 win Friday night was upheld yesterday and the game awarded to Navy because Chiefs had used an ineligible player—forward Keith Lawrence.

Lawrence apparently played two games in Victoria's Independent Commercial League at the start of the season before joining Chiefs, which made him ineligible to play for Esquimalt.

He played the entire season with Chiefs, and no one protested. But these are the playoffs, Navy warned Chiefs they would protest if Lawrence was used, and did.

Orioles Act Like Eagles After Winter Moulting Job

Baltimore Orioles, who did a big rebuilding job with a series of trades after their disappointing 1962 season, are looking as if they did well enough to seriously challenge New York Yankees for the 1963 American League championship.

The Orioles made it nine wins in as many pre-season games yesterday with a 4-3 victory over Cincinnati Reds, and two of their newcomers shared starting roles.

Taking the biggest share of the honors was John Orsino, a catcher obtained from San Francisco Giants. Orsino batted in all four runs with three home runs. And south-paw Pete Burnside, with Washington Senators last season, gave up only two runs in five good innings for the Orioles.

While the Orioles were keeping up their streak, the Yankees were running into more of their usual spring-training troubles. They were shut out 10-0 by New York Mets yesterday after losing 3-6 to Cincinnati on Sunday despite a home run by Mickey Manie. The world champions are 2-7 so far this season.

Air Force Curlers Win Navy Bonspiel

Four RCAF curlers attached to the Royal Canadian Navy Sunday won top honors in the annual RCAF Pacific Command bonspiel when they defeated Wes Young's navy rink, 12-7, in the final of "A" event at Esquimalt Municipal Centre.

Navy rinks, however, took the other three events. Norm Richardson's foursome outscored Nobby Clarke, 15-12, in the final of "B" event. Len Prokopow defeated Jack Young, 12-8, in the final of "C" event, and Frank Berger bested Lloyd Silver in "D" event.

A total of 33 rinks took part in the weekend affair. Winners:

Rebuilding Plans Readied For Royal Athletic Park

Plans to rebuild and enlarge Royal Athletic Park will be presented to city public works committee today as part of the answer to Victoria's pressing need for more playing fields.

Based on information collected by parks commissioner Herb Warren, the plans call for the new park to take in the entire square block bounded by Cook, Vancouver, Caledonia and Pembroke Streets. No cost figures have been released, but the entire project reportedly will come to well over $100,000.

COULD TAKE TIME

The plans are being presented only for the approval of the public works committee. They could be rejected or tabled for further study. And if they are accepted, passed on to council and voted in, the rebuilding scheme could be a long-term proposition designed to be implemented over a period of years.

But just a look at those plans has city sports officials drooling over the possibilities.

Under the proposed new operation, the baseball diamond would be moved to the corner of Vancouver and Caledonia angled toward the corner of Pembroke and Cook. A set of concrete stands seating several hundred fans would be built around home plate.

They call for the whole park to be set back from Caledonia, with a parking mall stretching the length of the park between Cook and Vancouver Streets. The present vacant lot on the other side of Caledonia may also be included in parking facilities.

There are many obstacles yet to be overcome. To carry out the plans, several dwellings now on the property would have to be purchased and torn down. Some of them are city owned now, others are not.

But there are also reasons

Post Office Mixup

Is Expensive

LEICESTER, England (AP)—A post office mixup cost a Nigerian student £100,000, about $200,000—the money he could have won on the British soccer pools.

Lawrence Rotimi, 25, a student at Leicester College of Technology, married and with two children, filled in a coupon correctly forecasting eight draws out of 53 matches played Saturday.

Soccer pools firms ask that the coupons be mailed not later than Thursday every week. Rotimi mailed his coupon in time but somehow his letter went through the sort office twice. It collected two postmarks, one for Thursday and another for Saturday.

The soccer pools firm referred the matter to an independent panel of auditors who decided Rotimi could not qualify for the prize.

SEPARATE

This would leave the soccer pitch entirely separated from the baseball infield. More concrete seats, with room for perhaps 2,000 fans would be placed on the Caledonia side of the pitch, with movable bleachers to fill the gap between baseball and soccer stands if necessary.

More stands may also be placed on the Pembroke side of the pitch.

Surrounding the pitch and the diamond would be a grass track.

The plans also attempt to solve the biggest problem of the present set-up—the lack of adequate parking facilities.

With Harry Young

A devastating streak by Bill Wakeham took Victoria's team through to victory in an inter-city match against Vancouver Sunday at Royal Colwood.

Wakeham, partnered by Ron MacLeod, beat Bert Tiehurst and Bob Cox in a keenly-contested match, 3-2, and the three holes that made the difference were all won by Wakeham.

He put a nine-iron shot to within 18 inches of the stick at the 13th for a birdie three to put his side one up. At the long 14th, he sank a 20-footer for a birdie four, and he was the only one of the four to get a par on the 15th.

This gave the Victoria pair a lead of three holes, and a half in par at the 16th settled the issue.

First seven holes were halved. Tiehurst won the eighth with a birdie three, and MacLeod countered with a birdie on the ninth to tie it up.

MacLeod and Tiehurst then matched birdies at the 10th, and the match remained all square until Wakeham threw his one-two-three punch.

MacLeod and Wakeham were two under par when the match ended.

Entries are beginning to roll in for this year's Vancouver Island match play tournament.

Limit of 160 has been set, and in case of overflow the 160 with lowest handicaps will be accepted. Entries must be mailed to district secretary Les Derman at Gorge Vale Golf Club before March 25.

Among those hoping to take part are Dick Munn, due back at the end of the month from his stint at Tucson, Arizona; defending champion Ron MacLeod and runner-up Bill Wakeham. At the moment it does not seem that Laurie Carroll, the past champion from Victoria Golf Club, will participate.

Qualifying round will be played at Victoria Golf Club March 30 and it is expected that all players with handicaps of 10 or less will be accepted, dependent upon the number of entries.

Norm Boden, professional at Chignik, scored his third hole in one last week, acing the 165-yard third hole at Mt. Brenton with a five-iron.

Boden had hoped to take part in several of the big professional golf trail events in California earlier this year, and went clear to San Diego only to discover that the USPGA had changed the rule which formerly allowed Canadian pros to take part in three tournaments.

"It was a long journey for no golf," Norm said, "but we had a good holiday, anyway."

Golf, it appears, is still a low-cost game in some parts of the world.

Sergeant Peter Donald of Victoria, now with Strathcona's Horse in the Gaza Strip, has written to friends of a recent game he played at the Bedouin Golf Club near his army headquarters.

Membership is $250 a year; clubs can be rented for 20 cents a round, and caddies cost 20 cents for 18 holes. There is a good clubhouse, with most of the facilities.

Heat is a bit of a problem, and players counteract the 89-100 degrees temperatures by playing in bathing suits.

Victorians Share Gun Club Honors

Bert Tibbels of Victoria scored 90x100 Sunday to win the handicap event and the Ernie Todd Trophy at Victoria Gun Club's registered trap championships.

George Smith of Victoria won the "B" class doubles with 41x 50, and Barry Thomson of Alberni shot 44x50 to take "C" class doubles.

Norm Young of Alberni won "A" class singles with 91x100. J. Rempel of Vancouver took "B" class with 96x100. F. Mitchell of Vancouver won "C" class with 90x100, and Bob Hopkins of Duncan won "D" class with 90x100.

Annual skeet championships will be held March 31.

to hope the plans will be accepted and put into motion soon.

City council has been told before that the present park, with its rotting and tinder-dry stands, could be condemned within a year or so. Present lighting system must be changed in the near future in any case.

Lights are now on the wrong voltage system, and must be switched, at a cost of $4,000. But even if that is done, the poles supporting the lights are rotting, and council is considering spending between $15,000

Probe Opens In Georgia Football Fix

ATLANTA (AP)—Attorney Eugene Cook started his probe Monday of charges that the Alabama-Georgia football game last fall was rigged to take the same test, and later said he may interview said he was willing but that members of the Alabama team, his attorney had advised against it.

Cook said he has not decided whether to interview Georgia players. But he said former Georgia athletic director Wally Butts and Alabama coach Paul Bryant, named by the Saturday Evening Post in a story titled "The Football Fix," will be questioned.

Others to be interviewed include coach Johnny Griffith of Georgia, Dr. O. C. Aderhold, president of the University of Georgia, and the writer of the Post article, Frank Graham Jr.

TO SEEK BRYANT

The attorney general said he will either ask Bryant to come to Atlanta for questioning or go to Alabama at the Alabama coach's convenience.

The state investigation was ordered by Governor Carl Sanders after the Post charged that Butts gave Bryant detailed information in a telephone conversation about Georgia plays, players and defense eight days before the game. Alabama won, 33-0.

Both coaches issued new

'Terrible Thing'

Give Names Outside Gaglardi Demands

Highways Minister Gaglardi yesterday challenged opposition members to go outside the House to name firms which they think are improperly awarded government business. He said opposition naming of firms said to be getting preferential treatment is "a terrible, tragic thing."

NO IMMUNITY

"I challenge them to go outside this House and make remarks about firms getting government business improperly," he added.

Remarks made outside the House do not have parliamentary immunity and can become the foundation for civil actions.

The highways minister said it was peculiar the names of companies, known to be sympathetic to the opposition, never crop up on the floor or on the order paper.

REPLY TO RHODES

"I know whom I'm talking about and I could name names. If I wanted to stoop as low as members on the other side of this House," said the minister.

He was replying to charges by James Rhodes (NDP—Delta) that the public is being misled by claims that all government highways work goes out to tender.

Some of it, he stated, is done on a day labor basis without bids having been called.

DAY LABOR

Mr. Gaglardi said an average of $6,000,000 a year has been spent on day labor projects since 1952 and defended the practice as essential for the performance of many small projects.

"I deplore the fact that because some firms are thought to be friends of this government their names constantly appear on the order paper," he said.

Mr. Gaglardi's departmental estimates amounting to $74,814,342 were passed at 4:05 p.m.—the fourth day during which they were before the house. Premier Bennett withdrew them from consideration Friday after a heated exchange with John Squire (NDP—Alberni).

Gargrave Hits Duty Bill

A New Democratic Party member of the legislature said Monday the B.C. government's new succession duty legislation is another step toward "Balkanization of the tax structure in Canada."

Anthony Gargrave of McKenzie said an auction between the provinces—which says it's cheaper to die in one place than another—is unseemly.

He was commenting during second reading of legislation under which the province will enter the succession duty tax field.

Mr. Gargrave said that under the provincial legislation if a man dies in B.C. leaving an estate in another province the estate is taxed by the two provinces.

He said the provincial government will levy the tax on estates that were never taxed under the federal legislation.

Road Worst In Province

In a province where roads are literally hacked out of the wilderness, it was suggested in the legislature Monday that the roughest section is in the city of Vancouver.

Pat McGee (L—Vancouver Point Grey), in calling for extension of 10th Avenue in the city to Marine Drive, said the 1.3-mile section, which was "pushed through in 1958"—is as rough as any in B.C.

Bonner Report:

Industry Spending Booming in B.C.

B.C. is heading into a boom year for capital expenditure according to latest federal government estimates. Trade Minister Bonner announced yesterday.

He said Dominion Bureau of Statistics forecasts for 1963 place estimated total expenditure in B.C. for capital and repair purposes at $1,467,000,000—a mere $130,000,000 off the record pace set in 1962.

LEADS CANADA

The forecast total for B.C., Mr. Bonner pointed out, leads all Canada in percentage increase over 1962 and "will be over twice as much as the total manufacturing expenditures in the three prairie provinces combined."

In capital expenditures primary industries are expected to spend less than last year at $119,000,000—down from $134,000,000.

But manufacturing is expected to account for $185,000,000—a $56,000,000 increase.

Utilities are expected to jump from $189,000,000 in 1962 to $344,000,000 in 1963.

Housing estimates are off $2,000,000 to $160,000,000 and estimated institutional and government spending for capital needs is off $12,000,000.

Legion Election

Esquimalt Dockyard Branch, No. 172, of the Royal Canadian Legion will hold a general meeting and election of officers in the Legion Hall at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

B.C. Tax Deal Unfair—Bennett

Premier Bennett said Monday that B.C. is not being fairly dealt with by the federal government.

He said during discussion of a bill dealing with income tax in the legislature that B.C. receives 16 per cent of the income tax revenues collected by the senior government.

But, he added, that other provinces receive a greater amount because of equalization and other payments.

He listed these: Newfoundland 212 per cent of the total income tax collections in the province; Prince Edward Island 251 per cent; Nova Scotia 123 per cent; Saskatchewan 76 per cent; and Manitoba 46 per cent.

"British Columbia is getting a very bad deal from Ottawa," he said.

The premier said the government has no intention of increasing the provincial income tax.

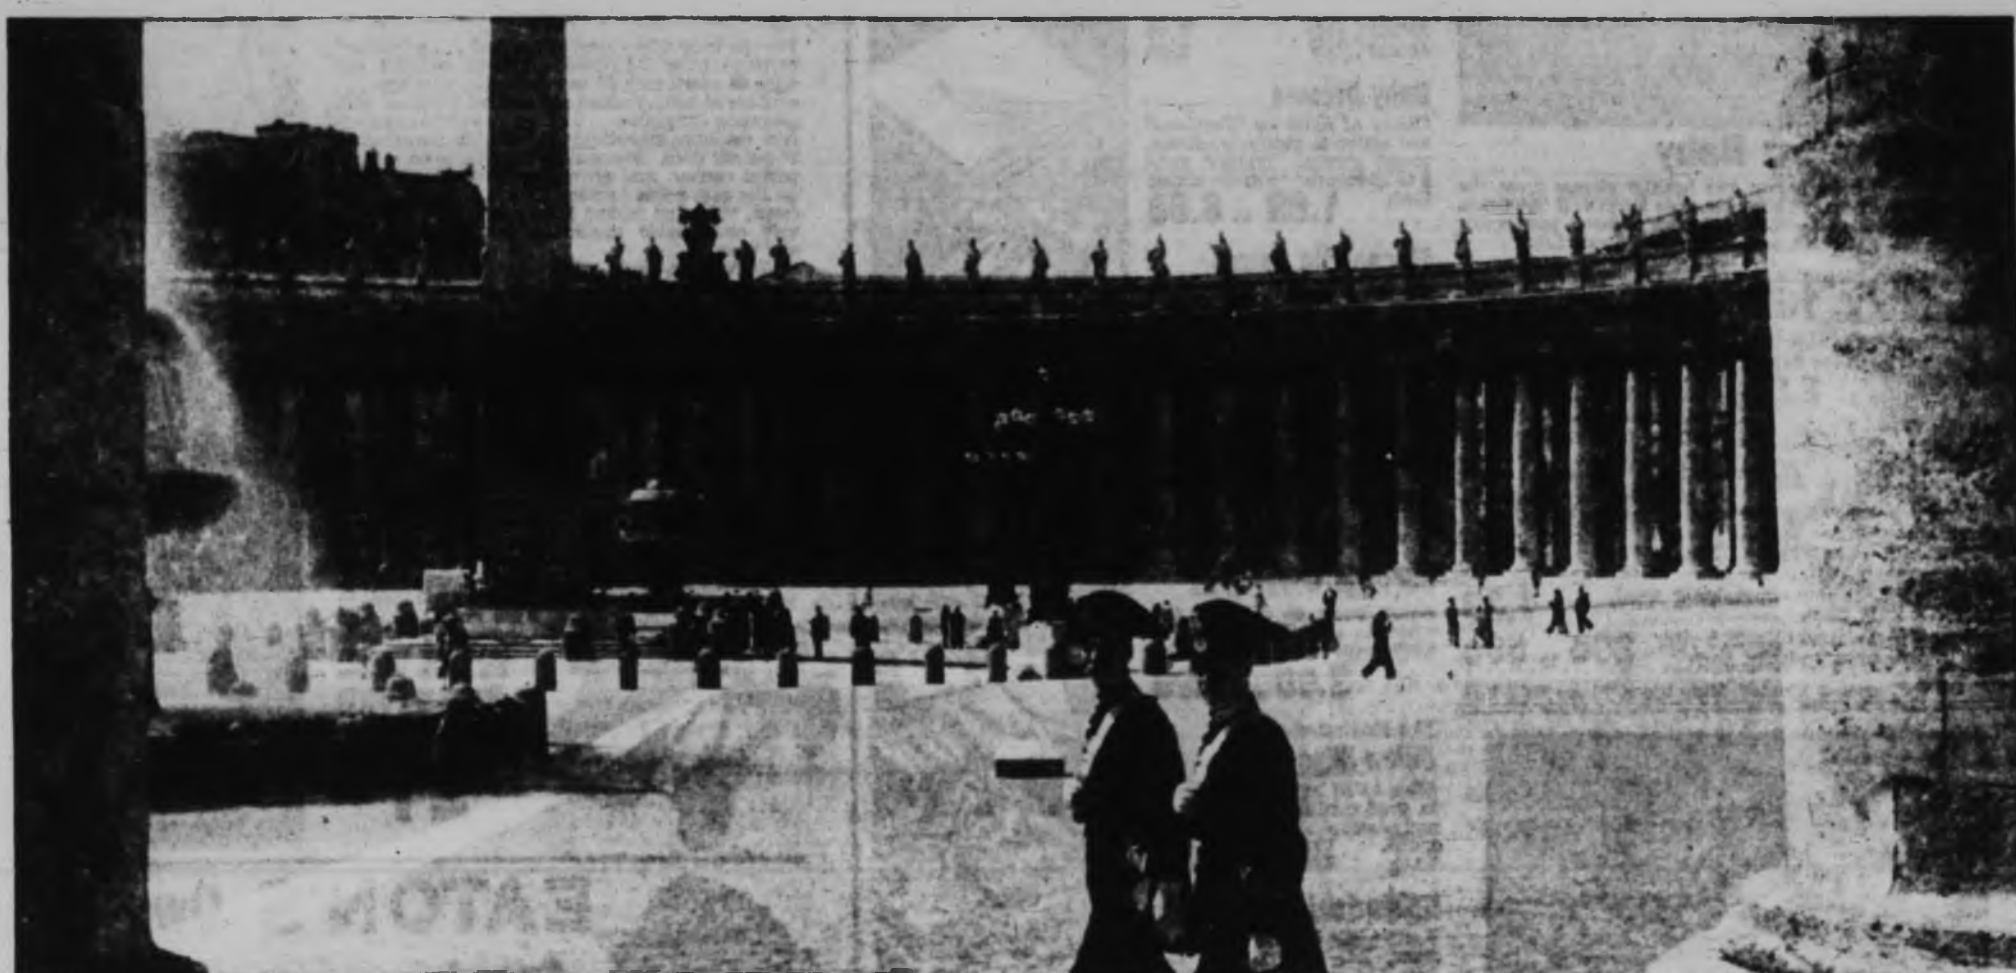

Ever Hear of a "DIURETIC"?

Maybe not. But you should know what a "diuretic" does. There may be times when you should use one. You likely understand how important the kidneys are in maintaining good health. Also that if the kidneys fail to function properly excess acids and waste material remain in the system. This may result in subsequent urinary irritation and bladder discomfort, often followed by backache, tired feeling and disturbed rest.

This is when the diuretic service of Dodd's Kidney Pills may be helpful. Dodd's act as a diuretic stimulant to help restore normal kidney action, and so relieve the systemic condition causing backache and tired feeling. When you are bothered by backache and tired feeling due to busy kidney action you can depend on Dodd's Kidney Pills as many thousands have done during the past 70 years. Look for Dodd's at any drug counter.

Rome, with its magnificent architecture and tempestuous history—one of the highspots in your KLM tour of Europe

"KLM Gateway to Travel Enchantment" and careful Dutch planning help you see more on your European vacation

"Tour Number 3" is a vacation par excellence... just one of many offered in KLM's new booklet: "KLM Gateway to Travel Enchantment". Here is a luxurious 22-day tour that enables you to see some of the very best of Europe—10 fascinating cities in 6 separate countries. Complete and mail the coupon below for your copy. Then drop in and see your Travel Agent.

1. KLM's "Tour Number 3" is tailored to suit your pocketbook. The all-inclusive "land" portion of this enchanting vacation—including hotel accommodation, excursions, motorcoach and European plane travel, etc., is standardized at $575.50. KLM's economy class roundtrip air fare* should be added to this figure, dependent upon your starting point in Canada:

From Montreal	$558.00
Toronto	$619.00
Winnipeg	$695.00
Vancouver	$799.00

2. First Stop: Amsterdam. Your KLM DC-8 jet takes you non-stop from Montreal or New York to Amsterdam, "Gateway to Europe". You tour the canals, and go sightseeing in the Hague and Delft. Then off for three delightful days in London, with visits to the Houses of Parliament, Westminster Abbey and the Tower of London. And on to Paris—City of Enchantment—with its Eiffel Tower, fashionable boulevards, the Madeleine, Versailles . . . and restaurants that rank among the finest in the world.

3. Then Nice and Rome. In Nice, you swim, relax on the beach, watch the world go by in a shady street-side café, or go sightseeing in Monte Carlo or Grasse. The choice is yours . . . and what a delightful choice it is! And Rome—the Eternal City—site of St. Peter's, the Vatican and Sistine Chapel, the Coliseum. All these are included in your itinerary of tours and there's lots of time left over for shopping, sightseeing on your own, and side trips to Naples, Pompei, and Capri.

4. And north to Florence and Venice. In Florence, you marvel at the splendour of the Medici Chapel and the Pitti Palace and select the excursion of your choice to Pisa or Fiesole. In Venice, you are awed by the exquisite beauty of St. Mark's and the Doge's Palace . . . and you enjoy the romance of a gondola tour through this truly unique city.

5. Lucerne, Mainz, Cologne . . . and home! From Lucerne, you can visit Interlaken and the Bernese Oberland and then, by the ultra-modern "Rheingold Express", you skirt the Black Forest to Mainz. There, you board a steamer for an all-day trip down the Rhine, past the Lorelei and Bonn, to Cologne, from where you take a plane to Amsterdam Airport for your return flight to Montreal by KLM propeller flight, or to New York by DC-8 jet.

6. "KLM Gateway to Travel Enchantment" is an invaluable booklet containing useful information to help you plan your European vacation. As well as giving you a day-by-day breakdown on 6 representative KLM tours and half-a-dozen roundtrip suggestions on how you can best take advantage of KLM's multi-stopover plan, it also includes information on Amsterdam Airport's tax-free shopping facilities, how to rent a car, etc. All you need to do to get your free copy is to complete and mail the coupon at the bottom of this advertisement.

7. "Europe on $5-$10-$15 A Day". This is a flexible, broad range "plan-it-yourself" travel programme designed by KLM to meet the needs of nearly every independent traveller in Europe. For the thrifty-minded tourist on a restricted budget to the vacationer desiring a more cosmopolitan, first class-type itinerary, "Europe on $5-$10-$15 A Day" is the answer. You can use the plan for all or only some of your European stopovers, thus creating your own travel programme. You visit only the places that interest you . . . and at the all-inclusive price you select. KLM's new booklet: "Gateway to Travel Enchantment" gives you all the details.

8. KLM's Fly-Now-Pay-Later Plan permits you to fly now at a low-down payment and offers you many months to pay the balance. In addition to covering your roundtrip ticket, it can also be used for all-inclusive tours, hotels and sightseeing. Only 10% down. Ask your Travel Agent or KLM for complete details. Point to note: children travel at big discounts with KLM. Under twelve, they save 50%; under two, 90% of the fare, all the year round.

9. The world's first air booking office was opened in Amsterdam in 1921—by KLM. And KLM was the first airline to fly a regular inter-continental service. This route, more than 9,000 miles each way, connected Amsterdam and Java. Until 1940, this was the longest scheduled air service in the world. KLM was the first European airline to operate a regular service across the North Atlantic after World War II.

10. KLM has had longer than any other airline to perfect its reliability—44 years. The initials KLM stand for Koninklijke Luchtvaart Maatschappij. This is the Dutch for Royal Aviation Company. Just KLM will do—it's known all over the world. KLM carries an average of 3830 passengers every day—about twice the capacity of a big ocean liner.

11. Every DC-8 jet carries enough fuel to fly 1100 extra miles. The extra fuel load is equivalent to 12,000 kgs. (26,460 lbs) of paying freight. KLM believes that security is worth the expense. Instruments in the cockpit of every KLM DC-8 jet enable the flight engineer to check the complete mechanical system of the plane every hour while in flight. This is another example of KLM thoroughness.

12. KLM flies to every continent in the world. KLM has been established in Canada since 1946 and now has offices in principal Canadian cities. Something worth noting: KLM has daily flights out of Montreal and New York for Europe. During the peak Summer season, you can choose from nine weekly flights from Montreal and four daily flights from New York.

13. See your Travel Agent. Having themselves been professionals in the field of air transportation for 44 years, KLM recognizes that it takes professionals to plan trips efficiently. In every city in Canada, KLM is represented by a professional—your Travel Agent.

Two Ferries

Millions
For
VMD

Contracts totalling $7,000,000 for two new B.C. government ferries were awarded yesterday to Victoria Machinery Depot.

A B.C. Government Ferry Service official said the two vessels will make the ferry fleet the largest in the world in terms of tonnage and capital investment.

The ferries will be the fifth and sixth of the Tasawassen-class vessels built by VMD. The contracts are for $3,496,661 each.

The company early in February delivered the Mv. Queen of Saanich and will deliver the recently-launched Mv. Queen of Esquimalt April 7.

No Names Yet

No names have yet been chosen for the new vessels. Their completion will bring the government fleet to 19 ferries and enable identical service between Nanaimo and Horseshoe Bay as now exists between Swartz Bay and Tasawassen.

The 1,000-passenger, 110-car ferries will be equipped with variable pitch propellers and bow steering.

VMD president Harold Husband said immediate orders would be placed on steel for the new vessels. Delivery should be in five weeks.

Side by Side

The hulls, to be built side by side as were the previous government ferries, will require about 150 men at the start. This will increase to 500 men after the hulls are launched and fitting-out has begun.

"We are very grateful for the work. It is important to Victoria's economy," Mr. Husband said.

Recreation Minister Westwood said the new ships will be equipped with elevators and the latest in propulsion systems will make them considerably more manoeuvrable.

More Parking

Work on additional docking facilities and larger parking areas at the Nanaimo-Horseshoe Bay terminals has begun, to facilitate the new vessels.

A ferry service spokesman said two ferry fleets exceed B.C.'s only in terms of number of vessels and numbers of passengers carried. Washington State operates more ships and a Hong Kong service carries more passengers.

One Tasawassen-class ferry, Queen of Esquimalt, is currently fitting out.

Two Daily Trips

A 40-car Gulf Island vessel, Queen of the Islands, is under construction at Burrard Dry-dock in Vancouver.

The government also announced it will launch twice-daily trips from Salt Spring Island to Tasawassen about July 1. Salt Spring terminal will be at Long Harbor.

Intervening stops are scheduled for Mayne and Galiano Islands, Saturna and Pender Islands will be provided with a twice-daily connecting Tasawassen by way of Mayne Island.

New Facilities

Tenders are to be called immediately for an estimated $750,000 worth of terminal facilities to make the Gulf Islands run possible.

Mayne Island terminal will be at Village Bay and the Galiano terminal will be at Sturdies Bay subject to successful negotiations for the use of federal docking facilities.

New terminals will be built at Long Harbor and Village Bay, and the federal dock at Sturdies Bay is to be modified for the use of end-loading vessels.

Red Cross Drive
At $23,844 Mark

The Red Cross fund drive has collected $23,844.15—about 30 per cent of its $79,000 objective, campaign headquarters reported last night.

An official said this is above the figure attained at this stage last year—but cited good weather which has helped the residential canvass. She said more than half the money raised so far comes from the residential canvass.

This is similar view to what tourists visiting future underwater aquarium in Victoria will see. The 35-pound octopus later broke out from underwater test buoy area by breaking steel mesh wire netting after week in captivity.—(Ryan Bros.)

Octopus on Lam

A sample showpiece octopus weighing 35 pounds and kept inside a steel mesh wire enclosure recently decided he liked the open sea better and broke out of Victoria entrepreneur Charles White's underwater test area.

The octopus, caught weeks ago by skindiver and octopus-catcher Ray Lunden, was followed hard on his tentacles by sample salmon and cod into regained freedom.

"After the octopus and the fish had escaped, we decided we need stronger steel mesh netting," said Mr. White, president of Saltire Products Ltd.

He said his underwater aquarium plans for a yet undisclosed site along the Greater Victoria area waterfront have progressed to the point where contracts will be let at the end of this week, "likely to one of the local shipyards."

Other Fish
Conned
Into Escape

"We have learned a lot from our test buoy," Mr. White said. "We kept fish, crabs, sea anemones, sea urchins, starfish and an octopus inside the netting. After a month, all except the octopus and the fish who got away, were apparently feeling quite at home."

Mr. Lunden promised he would come up with a beautiful and big species of octopus once the aquarium gets going, Mr. White said.

"So far, the biggest octopus kept in captivity is in Seattle. He weighs 800 pounds. We hope to display an even bigger one to our clientele," he added.

Mr. White said he returned a week ago from a five-day trip to the Los Angeles Marine Land where he studied strength and construction of underwater windows.

"We found out our research information was correct. Of course our safety factor concerning water pressure will be greater, as we will have similar glass and similar construction but in seven feet of water as against 22 feet in Los Angeles."

He said he selected the relative shallow depth because sea life was viewed best at seven feet with "enough light to permit patrons to enjoy the underwater activity."

Walkathon Entries Pass 100
With Deadline Four Days Off

Entries for the March 30 Colonist 30-mile Walkathon have passed the 100-mark and are expected to climb further as the deadline for entrants—Saturday—is approaching.

The Walkathon entry form will be reprinted in the Colonist for the last time Thursday, giving contestants two more days to fill out a form and send it to The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas Street, Victoria, B.C. by Saturday. Every entrant has been or will be mailed a release form which has to be signed by him and, in case he is under 21 years, by his parents or guardians as well.

Any adult can witness the principal signatures.

By 6 p.m. yesterday, 104 entrants had submitted forms. There are 10 girls in the junior class—14 to 16 years—and 42 boys. In the senior class—from 17—11 females from 17 to 37 years have applied and 41 males from 17 to 63 years.

TWO SISTERS

One contestant lives at Duncan, and two sisters, 15 and 16 years old, will walk together.

Here are some of the prizes and regulations.

First overall winner will receive $100, first woman $50, first junior $30, and there will be $25 prizes for second competitors across the finishing line in open and junior events.

WOMEN, JUNIORS

All women and juniors who finish 25 miles within 10 hours will receive special "25" awards, probably medals. All contestants walking 20 miles within the required 20 hours will get special "50-20" awards.

Several hidden time prizes along the route will be presented to the walkers who finish closest to a pre-set time. What these times are remains a secret, but the fastest walkers will not be among hidden prize winners. Steady pace will be a key to these prizes.

DETAILED MAP

Before March 30, each contestant who has returned the signed release form to the Colonist will be mailed a Walkathon kit containing his competition number, a detailed map of the route and a set of regulations.

Exact Walkathon route will be reprinted before the event is staged.

Displaying brand-new army boots they bought Saturday for Colonist 30-mile Walkathon March 30 are Fred Townsend, 21, of 1067 Gosper Crescent, left, and Stuart Bell, 21, of 414 Vincent. They walked to work for past week in 25 minutes for each stretch of 2½ miles. They plan to step up training to break in still-stiff boots. — (Jurgen Hesse)

Confident Walker
Wins Y Event

A Colonist Walkathon entrant for March 30 who said he would win the event proved Sunday he is in good shape when he came in first in the YMCA nine-mile training walk.

Allan Valiant, 20, student of Victoria High School, finished the course as first in a field of 54 in a time of one hour, 20 minutes and 30 seconds.

WITHIN TIME

Of the 38 who entered the fitness walk, 54 finished and 14 made it across the finishing line within the required maximum time of two hours and 20 minutes.

The course ran from the YMCA building to Pandora and Oak Bay Avenue to New Point, along Marine Drive to Beacon Hill Park and finished again at the Y.

YMCA physical fitness director Art Burgess said he talked to a number of contestants who told him they would also participate in the Walkathon.

"To this sort of training I can only applaud," Mr. Burgess said.

YMCA boys have said they will help man the Colonist Walkathon checkpoints March 30.

Another group, the "hustlers," said they would try to win first prize to help boys who cannot afford to go to Camp Thunderbird in July pay camp fees.

Temporary Measure

Old Hardware Store
May House City Staff

By IAN STREET

Temporary city hall accommodation may be established later this year in the Government Street premises formerly occupied by a large hardware and appliance store.

Centennial Square committee yesterday ordered a start in formal negotiations for the leasing of part of Me and Mc store building, 1406 Government.

Some 16,000 square feet floor space would be required for a 12-month period during the renovation of the existing city hall and construction of an annex to house administrative offices.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said the leasing of outside space would speed up demolition of unwanted buildings on the four-acre project site and enable a start to be made on landscaping the square this summer.

It could be two to six months yet before we stop accepting the old-type bottles," said William Allan, manager of the Veteran Junk Company.

Bottle
Return
Goes On

No deadline for returning present-style beer bottles has yet been set and it won't come for some time after the April 3 introduction of new "stubby" bottles, Victoria bottle dealers said last night.

They said "the new-type bottles will be returnable on the same basis as the present ones."

"It could be two to six months yet before we stop accepting the old-type bottles," said William Allan, manager of the Veteran Junk Company.

Saanich Asks
Liquor Store

The government is discriminating against Saanich by not allowing a liquor store in the municipality, Coun. Leslie Passmore charged last night.

"Why is it that the most populated area in Greater Victoria has no liquor outlet? I think it is most discriminatory that Saanich should be denied," he said.

Coun. Joseph Casey replied that although municipal officials got nowhere with the liquor control board, they are trying to arrange a meeting with Attorney-General Bonner, to ask for a store in the Town-and-country shopping centre.

STUDIES CONTINUING

This could mean postponement of completion of the civic playhouse for up to four years and the shopping arcade and carpark for some time beyond that. Studies are continuing, however, and no decision was reached yesterday on budget timing and schedule.

City treasurer James Brantley said as far as he could judge estimated income from sale of city-owned property would run about $80,000 a year. This fund is to be main source of financing the square.

Ald. A. W. Toome, chairman, said he wanted the committee to give the matter further study in light of new information that a delay until Oct. 15 could result in considerable savings under winter works.

IN TWO PARTS

Officials said the savings could go as high as $150,000 if the project was divided in two parts and the maximum benefits obtained. But a more likely figure was around $40,000, the committee was told.

City engineer James Garnett was asked to prepare a report outlining what steps could be taken in the next few months on demolition of unwanted buildings, closing of sections of Cormorant and Broad and Relining of Pandora, and landscaping of the square.

Dog Owners
In Oak Bay
Face Action

Oak Bay will crack down on dog owners who ignore stray dog and dog licence regulations.

Municipal council last night approved recommendations by its finance committee calling for new policies for council and the Victoria branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which handles pound duties for the municipality.

Under the new policy:

● Unlicensed dogs picked up by SPCA dogcatchers will not be released to their owners until properly licensed.

● Any "second offence" will be reported by the SPCA to Oak Bay police, who will lay a charge against the dog owner.

● A known owner who has been advised his dog has been impounded and does not claim it within reasonable time will be prosecuted.

"Complaints in sufficient volume are being received to indicate clearly that many dog owners are ignoring both stray dog and licence regulations," a joint Oak Bay-SPCA statement, released last night, said.

HIGHER FEES

Council also approved an increase in impounding fees, effective immediately, to $3 from $2.

Licence fees will increase Jan. 1, 1964, to $5 for males and spayed females and $10 for females, or $1 and $5 if payment is made before April 1. Present fees are $3 and $5.

The SPCA is to undertake a door-to-door canvass in Oak Bay selling dog licences.

Hit, Robbed

Police are investigating a report a man was robbed of his wallet containing $15 and $50 worth of unsold dance tickets after being hit over the head in a dance hall washroom.

N. McKeever, of the PPCL reported the incident happened Friday night at the Starlite Ballroom, 1313 Government.

Asphyxiated

North Saanich Couple
Found Dead in Car

A North Saanich couple—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kitchen, of 10648 Madrona Drive—was found dead of asphyxiation in their car yesterday.

RCMP said a length of vacuum cleaner hose had been attached to the car exhaust and led into the car through the window.

A neighbor, J. L. Hinton, of 10664 Madrona, spotted the car. Unable to detect a pulse in either of the two, he phoned RCMP at 6:25 p.m.

Ripped plastic bags, apparently tried unsuccessfully earlier, were found in the house by police. Their home was up for sale.

The couple has relatives in Vancouver and in California.

School Board
Ousts Press

Reporters were asked to leave last night when Greater Victoria school board went into committee-of-the-whole meeting despite a decision a month ago to open all but its most sensitive discussions to full press coverage.

"What is brought into the non-public committee-of-the-whole meeting is mainly decided by school board officials," chairman of the public relations committee, Peter Bunn, told the Colonist last night.

BOARD OFFICIALS

He said those officials were John Gough, superintendent of schools, Thomas Christie, board's full-time secretary-treasurer, and — to some extent — Joseph Chell, deputy superintendent of schools.

Last night's business, open to the public and the press, consisted mainly of committee reports which have always been open before as well.

NO DIMENSION

Immediately after the "new business" on the agenda trustees voted without a dissenting voice to go into the committee-of-the-whole meeting.

But the Colonist reporter later last night was given to understand by a trustee that the reporter's interpretation — that nothing had really changed from the previous barring of the press — was correct.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann: I want to be fair so I will start off by saying I've had many male teachers and most of them were gentlemen. But this male teacher I am writing about is a problem, not only to me but to other girls.

This teacher is the only one in the school who teaches a specialized subject and there's no way to avoid him. Bluntly, he can't seem to keep his hands off the girls. When I ask him a question he puts his head close to mine and whispers into my ear. Sometimes he adjusts my beads or flattens my collar or straightens my hair.

Yesterday he put his hands around my shoulders when he talked to me and I almost died of embarrassment. This was in front of the whole class.

He does the same thing to many girls so it isn't just me. So far as I know he never goes any further than just pawing, but it makes me uncomfortable and I don't know how to handle it. Can you help? — JUNIOR MISS.

Dear Miss: More often than not, pawers, touchers, and nudgers are unaware they have the habit. The best cure is to gently but firmly remove the pawer's hands from your shoulders, head, collar or what have you.

Make a point of what you are doing. He will become aware that this habit is annoying to you and can then set out to overcome it.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm considering marrying Linda whom

I've been dating for two years. The only thing standing in the way is a problem which may have no significance but it's gnawing at me and raising doubts.

Linda frequently calls me Chuck which is not my name. Chuck is a fellow we are both acquainted with, but so far as I know she has never gone out with him and there is nothing between them.

Linda seems normal in every other way and can remember everybody else's name. Why can't she remember mine? Only yesterday she phoned her mother in my presence and told her that "Chuck would bring her home about 11:00 o'clock."

Can this mean that Linda has Chuck on her mind and that I'm a fool to consider her for a wife? — NOT CHUCK.

Dear Not: People often mispeak themselves. Every mother alive has called one of her children by another child's name. In fact some mothers go through three or four names before they hit the right one. The next time Linda calls you Chuck—say, "Yes, Ophelia."

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the grandfather who was disgusted because he received a birthday gift with a card which said, "With love from Bonnie, Don, Mac, Sue, Hal, Mary, Gerry, Debbie, etc." was wonderful.

I'm a grandfather, too, and like the man who wrote, I select gifts for my family with loving care. Yet, year after year, my children send me things which show so little thought I'd prefer no gift at all.

For Christmas my daughter sent me a leather belt which is six inches too small. My son sent a heavy wool shirt, the kind men in Michigan wear for hunting. I live in Miami and have no use for such a shirt. Another daughter sent cuff links. I don't own one shirt with French cuffs.

My 11-year-old grandson sent me a cake of soap, which was the only gift I could use. Strangely enough, his mother wrote and apologized for the gift, thinking I might be offended.

Please, tell people, Ann, that sending a gift just to take care of an obligation is no compliment. And the receiver can always tell. — ALSO COMPLAINT.

Dear Also: You've made the point, Gramps. I can add nothing but my thanks for writing.

Joan Bouchard Bride Of Gerald G. Macadam

Pink tulips and white stocks decorated St. Barnabas Church for the recent marriage of Joan Florence Bouchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Bouchard, Victoria, and Mr. Gerald Gordon Macadam, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Macadam, Winnipeg, Man.

For the evening ceremony the bride chose a floor-length gown of exquisite lace over taffeta, fashioned on princess lines. A scooped neckline topped the fitted bodice and the skirt swept to a chapel train. She carried a cascade of pink rosebuds and white carnations. A dainty pearl earring held her fingertip veil. Rev. Brian Page officiated.

Miss J. Bouchard, Miss Lois Bennett and Miss Judy Hanson were in bell-skirted dresses of French blue peau de soie. Bows accented their toning pill boxes and they carried pink carnations.

Mr. Clyde Burgess was best man and Mr. Bill Bouchard and Mr. Bob Rae ushered guests. Mr. C. Bennett proposed the toast to the bride at the reception, held at the Club Tango. Music for dancing was played by the Continentals.

Leaving on an up-island

honeymoon, the bride changed to a powder blue three-piece Italian knit suit with black accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. G. F. Macadam, Miss Marilyn Macadam, the groom's mother, and sister from Winnipeg, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Baldwin, Starbuck, Man.

WHY do Canadians, year after year, buy more BIRKS STERLING than any other make?

4. BECAUSE BIRKS OFFER FREE ENGRAVING: One initial (Script or Old English) engraved free of charge on each piece.

BIRKS BUDGET PLAN makes it possible to use your sterling as you pay for it. For example, you may purchase one or more 4-piece place settings for as little as 10¢ down (minimum $5.00), balance in convenient monthly payments.

BEVERLY HILLS (AP)—Thieves stole 24 paintings, including a Van Dyck, a Gainsborough and two Titians, from the office of a wealthy Beverly Hills real estate man, police reported Monday. The realtor, Alfred Karlson, estimated their value at $150,000.

Seven Call Girls Convicted, Jailed

CALGARY (CP)—Seven women charged with conspiracy to live off the avails of prostitution in a call-girl ring were found guilty in district court Monday by Judge Arthur Beaumont.

Police said the ring operated for 10½ months.

Three of the women, all with lengthy records for similar offenses, Margaret Tremblay, 39, Jean Labelle, 36, and Martha Harandi, about 35, were sentenced to six months.

OTHERS NAMED

Those sentenced to one month each were Sylvia MacDonnell, 21, Carol Price, 21, Ruby Martin, alias Johnson, 41, and Roselle Vachon, about 29. The judge did not hand down a written judgment nor did he give any reasons for his findings.

Important Route Closer

Saanich council gave the go-ahead last night for negotiations which may lead to construction of Greater Victoria's most important east-west route north of Hillside Avenue.

The Saanich lands commissioner was authorized to negotiate with owners of the McRae estate for purchase of a right-of-way for Tattersall Drive. The commissioner also was authorized to negotiate for purchase of the remaining privately-owned portions of the proposed Tattersall right-of-way between Shelbourne and Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Council also appointed Coun. Hugh Curtis as its director on the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Election Notes

Socred Denies Prejudice

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP)—Social Credit Leader Thompson denied Monday the Social Credit party is antisemitic.

"As leader of the Social Credit party, I wish to irrevocably state that the policies of Social Credit are dedicated to the safeguarding of fundamental human rights and freedoms," he said.

OTTAWA (UPI)—Social Credit leader Thompson said today he was convinced his party had a "good chance" of forming a minority government after the election.

He indicated the party lacked support only in Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

TIMMINS (CP)—The NDP Monday mounted an earnest campaign for the French Canadian vote with its first major bilingual rally of the current federal contest.

Leader P. C. Douglas and Quebecer Schiffrin Gerard Picard shared the platform in this gold-mining centre 100 miles from the Quebec border.

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Liberal party's truth squad was "not a good idea," Liberal C. M. Drury, former deputy minister of national defence, said. It distracted attention from the real issues of the campaign.

DO FALSE TEETH Rock, Slide or Slip?

PASTEETH an improved powder to be sprinkled on upper or lower plates, holds false teeth more firmly in place. Do not slide, slip or rock. Noummy cover, pasty taste or feeling. PASTEETH is alkaline (not acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath." Get PASTEETH at drug counters everywhere. Advt.

Army Case To Ottawa

The Canadian justice minister is to get a complete report on the case of a soldier who was 13 days in army custody before charges against him were withdrawn in a civilian court.

Magistrate William Ostler, in Esquimalt police court Monday, cited "unilateral action by military authorities" in the case, but said it was for higher officials than him to comment on its handling.

NO LAWYER

Charges were withdrawn against Victor Eugene Francis of Work Point Barracks and 1046 View—charges to which he had pleaded guilty when he appeared in court, without a lawyer, March 11 and which concerned an incident Feb. 15.

Francis had been remanded to Monday for sentence.

Lawyer Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre, who appeared for the defendant Monday, submitted an affidavit from him requesting a change of plea to not guilty.

NOT SUPPORTED

Magistrate Ostler said statements in the affidavit, and statements in a probation officer's report he had received since March 11, if true, certainly did not support the charge or testimony March 11 by army Provost Sgt. Anthony Clarke. The magistrate allowed the change of plea.

Esquimalt prosecutor J. N. McIlreath then said that, as a result of civilian police investigation, he was asking that the charge be withdrawn. The magistrate withdrew it.

Francis had been charged with being in a dwelling house with intent to commit an indictable offence. Sgt. Clarke, in March 11 testimony, had claimed that the defendant had made "obscene advances" to a woman.

PRACTICE

Mr. McIlreath said, Attorney-General Bonner has asked that a report on the case go to the Canadian justice minister.

The law gives military authorities the power to deal with service personnel accused of anything but murder, rape and treason, but in practice personnel are usually handed over to civilian authorities.

IRA Blamed For Blast

CORK, Ireland (UPI)—A powerful bomb exploded Sunday at a monument which was to be unveiled during St. Patrick Day ceremonies by President de Valera. A man planting the bomb was killed and his companion seriously wounded.

Police blamed the outlawed Irish Republican Army for the blast, but discounted any attempt to assassinate de Valera. "They" motive apparently was to embarrass the president," a spokesman said.

granted permission for distribution of collection cards by the Victoria council of the Voice of Women to aid UN Freedom from Hunger day March 21.

Council also proclaimed clean-up week in the municipality April 22-26 and received a request for removal of a rock vision hazard at Lamson Street and Lamson Place to the engineer for a report.

About 30 girls are sought by Victoria Jaycee member Douglas Webb as entrants in the Miss Victoria contest to be held during the Jaycee fair May 13 to 18.

The girls must be attractive, talented, poised, single and between the ages of 18 and 26. Further information may be obtained from Mr. Webb at EV 3-0744 during the day or GR 7-4342 during the evening, or Winston Garcia at EV 2-6111, local 2564, or EV 3-1484.

Esquimalt council will suggest Esquimalt High School auxiliary petition ratepayers for sidewalks on Colville Road and Ellery Street.

A letter from the auxiliary suggested a sidewalk on school side of Ellery as a first step.

A man who was nabbed in a second-story bedroom at 324 Maitland about 6:30 p.m. Monday was turned over to detectives and charged with breaking and entering and theft. Police said the man was apprehended by Grant Rutledge, 2627 Mt. Stephen.

Twenty-six local improvement bylaws, mainly for curbing and sewers, sailed through an Esquimalt court of revision without a single protest from ratepayers.

This certainly is an improvement over other courts of revision we've had," said Acting Reeve James Bryant. "I can remember when we had more protests than bylaws."

Victoria writer George Nicholson's book, Vancouver Island's West Coast, 1762-1962, has been officially listed under History in Canadiana 1963 and allotted an official number by the National Library of Canada in Ottawa. It was announced Monday.

Former members of the 67th Battalion, Western Scots, are expected to come to Victoria from as far away as Alberta and California to attend the battalion's annual reunion dinner at the Dominion Hotel at 7 p.m. Saturday.

The dinner marks the 47th anniversary of the Victoria unit's departure for overseas during the First World War.

Final plans for presentation to Victoria city council of a year-round special events program will be discussed at a general meeting today of the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association.

Meeting begins at 8 p.m. in the city council chamber.

How to Transplant

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

One question I get thrown at me constantly is when is the best month to move clumps of certain perennial flowers. Generally speaking, the rule here is to plant or transplant the spring-flowering kinds in the fall and the fall-blooming kinds in the spring. There are exceptions, of course—the flag iris and the pyrethrum move best in midsummer just after flowering—but, by and large, the rule works out very well.

This being the case, it is about time now to take up, divide, and re-plant overgrown clumps of the autumn-blooming subjects—the Michaelmas daisies, hardy mums, golden glow and golden rod and the perennial asters. It is the best time, too, to buy and plant roots of these subjects.

A flat-tined digging fork is the best implement for getting an overgrown root clump out of the ground. Work your way around the clump, levering it up gradually until you can ease the whole clump clear of the ground with a minimum of root breakage. Place the mass of roots in the shade with a wet sack thrown over it until the planting site has been dug over and enriched.

This business of enriching the soil is important. Perennial plants can be fed with chemical fertilizers at any time through the growing season—preferably as a liquid feed, with soluble fertilizer dissolved in water—but the only time you can restock the soil with fibrous, bulky, humus-forming material is on such occasions when the plants are temporarily out of the ground.

An opportunity like this mustn't be missed up, and the vacated piece of ground should be dug over as deeply as the spade will reach, incorporating organic matter at the rate of one bucketful per square yard.

Animal manure has a little something extra in it which purely vegetable compost doesn't have—probably hormones, enzymes and glandular products. The exact role of these substances in plant nutrition hasn't been properly explored yet, but certainly the old-time gardener's faith in animal manure wasn't misplaced.

In this case, though, where re-planting is to be done immediately, any manure dug in should be so completely rotted as to be unrecognizable as manure. New stuff can scorch the roots of your plants, while half-rotted material depresses the fertility of the soil temporarily unless supplemented with chemical fertilizers.

One trouble with manure is the fact that you can't buy it in great quantities; you take a whole load or nothing. When you are merely renovating a small portion of the perennial border, you may have to make do with substitutes. Homemade compost is excellent, and a pretty fair substitute for manure can be made on the spot by soaking peat moss in a solution of chemical fertilizer in water, then digging it in just as you would manure.

Use any of the "instant" types of fertilizer: Old Gardener, Liqui-Life, Hyponex, Instant Vigoro or liquid fish—at the rate of two level tablespoonfuls per gallon of water. Soak the peat, then wring it out to semi-dry before spreading it on the ground preparatory to digging it in.

With the ground enriched, your fall-blooming perennial root clumps may be divided and the pieces re-planted. Smaller, youngish clumps may be split in two, either cutting with an old hacksaw blade or by inserting two digging forks back to back and levering the mass apart.

With older clumps, it is best to detach and plant young and vigorous small pieces from around the outside edge of the old clump, discarding the worn-out, woody bit in the middle. In planting these small pieces, don't set them in singly in splendid isolation, but group them in threes and fives, spaced only six inches apart. These will soon grow together, forming a new and vigorous clump.

CHARLES McDOWELL Describes Feedback

You Scratch My Back...

Feedback is defined in my dictionary as "the return to the input of a part of the output of a machine, system or process." This may not be clear to everyone at first blush, but it is an important principle to understand in this era of onrushing technology.

Television, for example, cringes heavily on feedback. To see how the principle of feedback works on television, let us take a look at a program on which the host is at this very moment welcoming a guest.

Host: It is a pleasure to welcome to our program the fine young singer and dramatic actor, a star of stage, screen and television, Rab Fernley. (Applause)

Guest: Thank you, Tom. I don't feel like a stranger to the show because I watch it all the time. Everybody does. And I want to say, Tom, that you are doing a wonderful job with this show. (Applause)

Host: Thank you, Rab. What brings you to town?

Guest: I'm here for the opening of my new picture, Sons of Rock-and-Roll Rumble, with a whole host of great stars. Tom, it opens Monday at the Prissy reserved seats $2.20, immediate seating in the balcony.

Host: I haven't had a chance to see it yet, of course, but I've read the ads, Rab, and it sounds great.

Guest: Thank you. And, Tom, we are all looking forward to a new picture of yours soon. Everyone on the Coast asked me to tell you hello and to come out and make a picture. Every-where I go, people are talking about your talent and what a fine fellow you are. (Applause)

Host: Thank you, Rab. Now I hope you won't mind, old man, if I show the folks your new album, Rab Fernley Rocks Cole Porter. (Holds up album) I haven't heard it but I've read record. Imagine that, ladies and gentlemen—nine gold records and he's barely 21 years old! I'm confident this will old! (Applause) And you're only bringing you your tenth record only 21, Rab?

Guest: That's right. If I was two months younger I couldn't get in to see Son of Rock-and-Roll Rumble. It's for adults only. As a matter of fact I never did see the original Rock-and-Roll Rumble.

Host: Neither did I, but I read the reviews and it was great.

Guest: Before we get off the subject of gold records, of which I have won nine, I just want to say, Tom, that the Good Fellowship Award that you won from the Altoma Jaycees would mean more to me than all the gold records in the world. (Applause)

Host: Thank you. Now I hope you won't mind if I show the folks your new book, Rab Fernley's Advice to Teen-Agers. (Holds up book) I haven't read it, but your agent read the dust jacket to my agent and it's great.

Guest: Thank you. I understand you have a book in the works, Tom, and I hope it wins the Nobel Prize.

Host: Thank you. Is it true, Rab, that your book is being serialized in Popular Personalties magazine, beginning in the April issue?

Guest: Yes, and the same issue has an article all about you, Tom.

Host: Yes, I haven't read it but I may very well have written it. Now, Rab, I had hoped to ask you to do a number for us, but we got into so much fascinating conversation that the time has slipped away. Before you go, though, I think we ought to say that you'll be appearing at Robert's Mushroom Cellar Club in Minneapolis, April 8 to 20. $3 minimum, no cover...

Guest: And all the people out in Minneapolis will be telling me how much they like this show, Tom. Thank you and good night.

Host: Let's hear it for Rab Fernley, a great guy. (Applause)

James Mason would like to believe that he has reconciled with Pamela Mason, but his friends in Madrid where he toils in The Fall of the Roman Empire write me that James considers his marriage a lost cause. And he misses his children. The divorce comes into court in April.

Young George Hamilton wouldn't at all mind if Betty Davis is his mother-in-law. He is quite smitten with Betty's tall daughter B.D., and I see them together at all the functions.

I chatted with ace director, Willie Wyler about his assignment to direct The Sound of Music. "A musical is the only thing I haven't done," said Willie who directed two such different pictures as Ben Hur and The Best of Our Lives. These two pictures swept up all the awards of their year. No one set for the lead role. But Doris Day would be great.

Longshoreman's Musings

A Gold Mine of Truths

By RUDOLF FLESH

Eric Hoffer is a middle-aged, Californian longshoreman who likes to read books at the public library and meditate about the state of the world.

Some 12 years ago he wrote a book, called The True Believer, which has become something of a classic on mass movements, political fanatics and the history of revolutions.

Now he's followed it up with The Ordeal of Chance (Harper) another gold mine of unexpected thoughts and startling truths.

Hoffer is an optimist who pins his faith on the poor in spirit. He says that America has been built by the world's rejects and outcasts. On the other hand, he has nothing but contempt for intellectuals who, he says, have a habit of leading the masses to power and then deserting them.

On corruption: "It has often been said that power corrupts. But it is perhaps equally important to realize that weakness, too, corrupts. Power corrupts the few, while weakness corrupts the many."

On enthusiasm: "Much has been said by all manner of people in praise of enthusiasm. The important point is that enthusiasm is ephemeral, and hence unserviceable for the long haul. One can hardly conceive of a more unhealthy and wasteful state of affairs than where faith and dedication are requisite for the performance of ungratifying everyday activities."

On talent: "It has often been stated that a social order is likely to be stable so long as it gives scope to talent. Actually, it is the ability to give scope to the untalented that is most vital in maintaining social stability."

On failure: "People who fail in everyday affairs often show a tendency to reach out for the impossible. They become responsive to grandiose schemes, and will display unequalled steadfastness, formidable energies, and a special fitness in the performance of tasks which would stump superior people."

On necessity: "It is highly doubtful whether people are capable of genuine creative responses when necessity takes them by the throat. The desperate struggle for existence is a static rather than a dynamic influence. The urgent search for the vitally necessary is likely to stop once we have found something that is more or less adequate, but the search for the superfluous has no end."

"Hence the fact that man's most unflagging and spectacular efforts were made not in search of necessities but of superfluities. It is worth remembering that the discovery of America was a by-product of the search for ginger, cloves, pepper and cinnamon."

Pilotage Investigation Not Coming to City

The royal commission on pilotage will not hold sessions on Vancouver Island, a pilotage authority told The Daily Colonist last night.

The commission will visit Victoria and inspect several up-island ports as far north as Campbell River, he said, but there will be no hearings.

After sessions in New Westminster soon, the commission will spend three or four days on the Island.

Phones, Files Hit

Vandals Take Cash In Varsity Building

Vandals broke into the E. B. Paul Building on Victoria University's Lansdowne campus over the weekend.

They ripped the pay telephones from the wall and smashed them to get at the money.

UNSUCCESSFUL

They evidently continued their activities to the foyer and book room and did not enter other parts of the building.

1,100 Sign Petition For Light

An 1,100-signature petition will be submitted to City Hall today asking for a control light at Cook and Oxford.

Assistant city engineer Ken Reid said Monday he will recommend to council March 25 a stoplight, which can be operated by a pushbutton by pedestrians wanting to cross, be placed at the crosswalk.

Druggist Walter Carter, whose Fairfield Pharmacy is at the corner where four persons have been killed in three years, has been leading the petition, along with Mrs. Ruth Simpson of 766 Fairfield.

25,000-Name Goal Met by Students

Victoria University's student action committee has reached its goal of 25,000 signatures for its petition calling for more financial aid for Victoria University.

A spokesman for the students said Monday the count was still not final as many canvassers had not yet checked in to headquarters.

Student president Alf Peterson reported the UBC total had climbed to 179,200 signatures.

FROM FAR PARTS

The combined total of signatures obtained by UBC and Victoria students now stands at 244,200.

Mr. Peterson said definite plans for presenting the petitions to the government had not been completed.

One Car on Wrong Side Eyewitness Tells Court

An eyewitness to the fatal two-car crash last Sept. 15 that took the life of Mrs. Doris Bendall, 33, of 512 Fraser, told an assize court jury yesterday one of the cars was on the wrong side of the road when the accident occurred.

The trial opened yesterday of RCMP marine constable Malcolm Joseph La Freniere, of the vessel Victoria, on a charge of driving a motor vehicle in a manner dangerous to the public.

PLEA ENTERED

La Freniere pleaded not guilty.

Eyewitness Mrs. Sete Kuor, 22, of 708 Suffolk, told the court she saw the accident when she was walking on Esquimalt Road about 9 p.m.

Mrs. Kuor said she saw a car driving toward Victoria. She said it was a "two-tone job."

"Then I saw the other car coming from Victoria, a green one, on the wrong side of the road. The two-tone job was trying to miss it but it didn't."

Mr. Justice John Sullivan asked the witness if she could account for the fact both cars were on their wrong side when they came to rest after the accident.

Mrs. Kuor said the "lady driver" in the two-tone car tried to avoid the accident by turning to her left and the other driver had turned to his right in a similar effort.

10 Per Cent Archer View

Any city gets the police force it deserves, George Archer, who is surveying police work in Greater Victoria, told a meeting of the Douglas Rotary Club last night.

Mr. Archer, a former RCMP official who was chief of police in Vancouver for six years following the Mulhgan probe, said a city should be prepared to spend 10 per cent of its budget on its police force.

ALWAYS FACED

"Any city wants a good police force, but most citizens are too parsimonious to give its police chief the budget to run his department effectively," said Mr. Archer.

"Police departments are always faced with the problem of a small force to serve a large community."

Mr. Archer said promotion of officers is one of the biggest problems of police forces.

"A good man can work hard and prove himself to be of real value to the force, only to have to wait for years for promotion as the older members of the force retire."

"Senior ranks should be filled from the country or the province as a whole," he said.

Centennial Square Warning Issued

A leading city architect warned yesterday failure to integrate the design of all the components could jeopardize success of Centennial Square.

John Di Castri informed the committee in charge of overall planning he was "most surprised" to receive a letter ordering him to cease work on design of the second stage of the carpark section of the $2,000,000 scheme.

MAJOR ELEMENT

He pointed out the individual project for which he was hired as architectural consultant — a shopping arcade and comfort station on ground level with a carpark building above — was "one of the major elements" of the square.

City planner Roderick Clack, head of the design team, said Mr. Di Castri's letter read at yesterday's committee meeting was meant only to express concern over "lack of design continuity" on a scheme which had already won wide acclaim for Victoria.

CREPT UP LIST

"There's a very simple explanation," said Mayor Wilson. "The parking garage was never contemplated as part of the first stage of the scheme, though it seems to have crept up the list of priorities."

Committee members will meet Mr. Di Castri in person this afternoon to discuss the matter further.

A similar letter ordering a slowdown on design for the square was sent a few days ago to landscape architect consultant Clive Justice.

The committee agreed yesterday, however, prospect of a speedup in demolition and construction of the square this summer would require completion of the landscape plan without further delay.

Convention Area For $100,000

Addition of limited convention facilities to the proposed civic playhouse is being considered by the Centennial Square committee.

This would boost the estimated cost of renovating the Pantages theatre from $275,000 to some $375,000.

Project architect Roderick Clack agreed the figure seemed "a bit steep" but added it would actually mean Victoria was getting a convention and theatre space at a tiny fraction of the cost involved in providing a new building.

MORE MODEST

Mayor R. B. Wilson noted the original concept of a 100-seat restaurant attached to the theatre had been modified to a point where more modest "refreshment facilities" were contemplated.

Ald. A. W. Toone, chairman, said he felt limited convention facilities would be of more value to the city than a full-scale restaurant.

NEW CONCEPT

"This is not a great expansion of our plans," he said. "We propose to put what facilities we have planned into a new concept designed to cater to small conventions."

The committee was informed the Canada Council doesn't make any grants to subsidize operation of theatres. But it felt the city's original request for assistance with capital costs had been misunderstood.

GENEVA (AP)—Russia said Monday Western insistence on more than three on-site inspections a year will inevitably lead to a breakdown of the nuclear test-ban negotiations.

Soviet disarmament negotiator Semyon Tsarapkin also warned the neutral bloc at the 17-nation disarmament talks against bringing pressure on Russia to raise its inspection quota offer.

U.S. ambassador Charles Stelle said Soviet acceptance of on-site inspection was the main theme of the letters exchanged between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev in January, and added: "I hope the Soviet representative will clarify this for us right now."

Tsarapkin ignored the appeal.

OTTAWA (CP)—Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia, has expressed his confidence that Social Credit Leader Thompson and his party "have a major role to play in the future" of Canada.

The letter, written in Amharic, had an appointed English translation initiated by the emperor. Mr. Thompson was a senior administrator in Ethiopia from 1933 to 1938, serving as director of provincial education in 1936-37.

Recalling Mr. Thompson's service, the letter expressed confidence that he will continue to strengthen ties between Canada and Ethiopia and the hope "to see you soon in Ethiopia."

The letter, dated March 4, reached Mr. Thompson through the Social Credit office in Montreal.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Exile commandos from two anti-Castro groups shelled a Russian military camp and a Russian ship on Cuba's north shore Sunday night, it was reported Monday night.

Some Russians were reported killed in the attack by invading raiders belonging to two Cuban exile groups, Alpha 66 and the Second National Front of Escambray.

Voice of the People reported the attack occurred near Isabela la Sagua in Las Villas province.

The refugee broadcast reported the raiders landed and reached a point near the camp. Material damage was inflicted, it said.

Production Refutes
Liberal Gloom Theory

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP)—Of 20,000,000 or less population, this achievement, he said, showed the falsifications in the Liberal party's appeal to the voters last year.

Later in the day, before 1,100 people in the Renfrew, Ont., Armory, he said Liberal leader Lester Pearson deserted his responsibilities during the recent brief session of Parliament.

After, as he also said in Pembroke, the Liberals "harassed" the government and voted it out, the Liberals were returning to its strategy of last June in predicting doom and gloom for Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he did not know what the latest Liberal campaign plans would be.

"They tried out the truth squad. I don't know where it is now. I guess it has joined the 15 pigeons that disappeared."

His reference was apparently to 12 pigeons released last Tuesday in London, Ont., to head 450 miles to Joliette, Que., where Mr. Pearson was speaking. They had not arrived when Mr. Pearson had finished his speech and gone on to Montreal.

He testified the new figures came as a result of reclassification of some of the other material to the category of solid rock.

NEW SURVEY
THE ANSWER

By TERRY HAMMOND
Colonist Legislative Reporter

A key to the riddle of whether a Trans-Canada Highway contractor was overpaid by $135,000 may lie locked in a rocky, 12-mile stretch of road near Revelstoke.

But it could be unlocked by a comprehensive, three-month survey, the legislative committee probing serious accusations against Highways Minister Gagliardi and his department was told last night. A survey was suggested, but no decision was made.

Departmental construction director E. C. Webster told the committee that in spite of the fact controversial Project 819 was completed in 1954 its cuts and fills will still be made testimony to whether the $135,000 worth of work was ever done.

His statement came after the quietest day of the investigation.

A single blowup came when Opposition leader Robert Strachan protested "continual harassment" by government members and told chairman Irvine Corbett "I have been turned down on everything I want."

Mr. Webster also said that, as far as determining whether the contractor had been overpaid, the monthly progress-estimate sheets were of comparatively little significance.

Final Check Counts

What really counted was the final project survey when an actual measurement is made of all material moved.

Individual progress estimate sheets could be at some variance with the actual material moved during the period they covered. But final settlement for the job would rest upon the results of the survey of the finished project.

Estimate sheets had been the basis of extensive cross-examination of the construction director by opposition members of the committee.

Mr. Webster also:

● Denied a principal of L & M Logging Co., prime contractor on Project 819, ever got special treatment as a result of visits to the highways department.

● Stated categorically there was no misuse of funds on Project 819.

● Denied he had any knowledge L & M was in financial difficulty.

● Said the federal government approved awarding of the contract to L & M.

● Denied any knowledge of a conspiracy in the awarding of a contract for Project 1023 to a successor company.

● Stated no such conspiracy could exist without his knowledge.

Shed Little Light

Mr. Webster had been in the witness box for every session of the committee since Wednesday when Montana contractor Dick Holzworth completed his testimony.

Holzworth's allegations of estimate padding, overpayment and promises of favors to contractors sparked the public accounts inquiry when they were tabled in the House by the NDP three weeks ago.

Mr. Webster, a halting witness who shed little light on some aspects of the allegations, indicated last night a new survey of the project might make the committee's probe into Project 819 unnecessary.

He refused to agree the resident engineer on Project 819 had committed a "fantastic error" in estimating the quantities of rock and other material on the job.

He told Randolph Hooding (NDP Kootenai-Slocan) "I have tried to explain... I don't know what I can say now."

Mr. Harding was asking how an estimate of 31,400 yards of rock and 35,300 yards of other material could, on an altered estimate made for the purpose of a progress payment, become 58,400 yards of rock and 30,500 yards of other material.

He testified the new figures came as a result of reclassification of some of the other material to the category of solid rock.

Reclassification was asked for by an official of L & M and was carried out by regional construction engineer D. J. Gormley on the job.

Classification conducted by the resident engineer, E. H. Barclay, had been conservative.

Liberal leader Ray Perrault elicited the "information the project could be surveyed

RABAT (AP)—The Moroccan government said Monday night it had learned that France fired a nuclear device Monday in the Algerian Sahara.

NO COMMENT

There was no immediate comment from the de Gaulle government or from Algerian Premier Ben Bella's regime, which sources reported earlier had threatened to break off cooperative agreements with France if the French went ahead with a test.

A Moroccan government communiqué gave no source for its statement that the French exploded a nuclear device Monday in the Hazzar region near Reggane, the French military testing centre deep in the Algerian Sahara.

Miners May Return

(CP from AP-Reuters)

PARIS — The French government's battle on the labor front registered a slight advance Monday as iron ore mine unions recommended a return to work. But disputes on many other fronts continued to plague the regime.

Both the Communist and Catholic unions scheduled a vote among the iron miners Wednesday on ending their walkout. The Socialist union was expected to go along with this decision and the miners were expected to endorse a return to work.

NONE LAID OFF

The unions acted after receiving the government's assurance that no miners will be laid off before June 1 while the wage, hour and employment situations are being studied.

Two Ferries

Millions
For
VMD

Contracts totalling $7,000,000 for two new B.C. government ferries were awarded yesterday to Victoria Machinery Depot.

A B.C. Government Ferry Service official said the two vessels will make the ferry fleet the largest in the world in terms of tonnage and capital investment.

The ferries will be the fifth and sixth of the Tsawwassen-class vessels built by VMD. The contracts are for $3,496,661 each.

The company early in February delivered the Mv. Queen of Saanich and will deliver the recently-launched Mv. Queen of Esquimalt April 7.

No Names Yet

No names have yet been chosen for the new vessels. Their completion will bring the government fleet to 19 ferries and enable identical service between Nanaimo and Horseshoe Bay as now exists between Swartz Bay and Tsawwassen.

The 1,000-passenger, 110-car ferries will be equipped with variable pitch propellers and bow steering.

VMD president Harold Hubbard said immediate orders would be placed on steel for the new vessels. Delivery should be in five weeks.

Side by Side

The hulls, to be built side by side as were the previous government ferries, will require about 150 men at the start. This will increase to 500 men after the hulls are launched and fitting-out has begun.

"We are very grateful for the work. It is important to Victoria's economy," Mr. Hubbard said. Re-election Minister Westwood said the new ships will be equipped with elevators and the latest in propulsion systems will make them considerably more manoeuvrable.

More Parking

Work on additional docking facilities and larger parking areas at the Nanaimo-Horseshoe Bay terminals has begun, to facilitate the new vessels.

A ferry service spokesman said two ferry fleets exceed B.C.'s only in terms of number of vessels and numbers of passengers carried. Washington State operates more ships and a Hong Kong service carries more passengers.

One Tsawwassen-class ferry, Queen of Esquimalt, is currently fitting out.

Two Daily Trips

A 40-car Gulf Island vessel, Queen of the Islands, is under construction at Burrard Drydock in Vancouver.

The government also announced it will launch two daily trips from Salt Spring Island to Tsawwassen about July 1. Salt Spring terminal will be at Long Harbour.

Intervening stops are scheduled for Mayne and Galiano Islands. Saturna and Pender Islands will be provided with a twice-daily connecting Tsawwassen by way of Mayne Island.

New Facilities

Tenders are to be called immediately for an estimated $750,000 worth of terminal facilities to make the Gulf Islands run possible.

Mayne Island terminal will be at Village Bay and the Galiano terminal will be at Studies Bay subject to successful negotiations for the use of federal docking facilities.

New terminals will be built at Long Harbour and Village Bay, and the federal dock at Studies Bay is to be modified for the use of end-loading vessels.

Red Cross Drive
At $23,844 Mark

The Red Cross fund drive has collected $23,844.15—about 30 per cent of its $79,000 objective, campaign headquarters reported last night.

An official said this is above the figure attained at this stage last year—but cited good weather which has helped the residential canvass.

She said more than half the money raised so far comes from the residential canvass.

Octopus on Lam

A sample showpiece octopus weighing 35 pounds and kept inside a steel mesh wire enclosure recently decided he liked the open sea better and broke out of Victoria entrepreneur Charles White's underwater test area.

The octopus, caught weeks ago by skindiver and octopus-catcher Ray Linden, was followed hard on his tentacles by sample salmon and cod into regained freedom.

"After the octopus and the fish had escaped, we decided we need stronger steel mesh netting," said Mr. White, president of Saltire Products Ltd.

He said his underwater aquarium plans for a yet undisclosed site along the Greater Victoria area waterfront have progressed to the point where contracts will be let at the end of this week. "Likely to one of the local shipyards."

Other Fish
Conned
Into Escape

"We have learned a lot from our test buoy," Mr. White said. "We kept fish, crabs, sea anemones, sea urchins, starfish and an octopus inside the netting. After a month, all except the octopus and the fish who got away, were apparently feeling quite at home."

Mr. Linden promised he would come up with a beautiful and big species of octopus once the aquarium gets going. Mr. White said.

"So far, the biggest octopus kept in captivity is in Seattle. He weighs 88 pounds. We hope to display an even bigger one to our clientele," he added.

Mr. White said he returned a week ago from a five-day trip to the Los Angeles Marine Land where he studied strength and construction of underwater windows.

"We found out our research information was correct. Of course our safety factor concerning water pressure will be greater, as we will have similar glass and similar construction but in seven feet of water as against 22 feet in Los Angeles."

He said he selected the relative shallow depth because sea life was viewed best at seven feet with "enough light to permit patrons to enjoy the underwater activity."

Walkathon Entries Pass 100
With Deadline Four Days Off

Entries for the March 30 Colonist 30-mile Walkathon have passed the 100 mark and are expected to climb further as the deadline for entrants—Saturday—is approaching.

The Walkathon entry form will be reprinted in the Colonist for the last time—Thursday, giving contestants two more days to fill out a form and send it to The Daily Colonist.

One-Cent
Rebate
Received

A city bus driver received a one-cent cheque from Ottawa yesterday as rebate on his 1962 income tax.

E. W. Marshall, 2635 Fifth Street, a B.C. Hydro bus driver, said, "I made out my income tax, and according to my figures, they owed me one cent."

"It put it down, but I only did it as a lark. I didn't think I could figure it that close," said the taxpayer, who may frame the cheque instead of cashing it.

Colonist, 2637 Douglas Street, Victoria, B.C., by Saturday.

Every entrant has been or will be mailed a release form which has to be signed by him and, in case he is under 21 years, by his parents or guardians as well.

Any adult can witness the principal signatures.

By 6 p.m. yesterday, 101 entrants had submitted forms. There are 10 girls in the junior class—14 to 16 years—and 42 boys. In the senior class, from 17—11 females from 17 to 37 years have applied and 11 males from 17 to 63 years.

TWO SISTERS

One contestant lives at Duncan, and two sisters, 13 and 16 years old, will walk together. Here are some of the prizes and regulations.

First overall winner will receive $100, first woman $50, first junior $30, and there will be $25 prizes for second competitors across the finishing line in open and junior events.

WOMEN, JUNIORS

All women and juniors who finish 25 miles within 10 hours will receive special "25-10" awards, probably medallions. All contestants walking 50 miles within the required 20 hours will get special "50-20" awards.

Several hidden time prizes along the route will be presented to the walkers who finish closest to a pre-set time. What these times are remains a secret, but the fastest walkers will not be among hidden prize winners. Steady pace will be a key to these prizes.

DETAILED MAP

Before March 30, each contestant who has returned the signed release form to the Colonist will be mailed a Walkathon kit containing his competition number, a detailed map of the route and a set of regulations.

Exact Walkathon route will be reprinted before the event is staged.

Wins Y Event

A Colonist Walkathon entrant for March 30 who said he would win the event proved Sunday he is in good shape when he came in first in the YMCA nine-mile training walk.

Allan Valiant, 21, student of Victoria High School, finished the course as first in a field of 51 in a time of one hour, 20 minutes and 30 seconds.

WITHIN TIME

Of the 58 who entered the fitness walk, 54 finished and 44 made it across the finishing line within the required maximum time of two hours and 30 minutes.

The course ran from the YMCA Building to Pandora and Oak Bay Avenue to New Port, along Marine Drive to Beacon Hill Park and finished again at the YMCA.

YMCA physical fitness director Art Burgess said he talked to a number of contestants who told him they would also participate in the Walkathon.

"To this sort of training I can only applaud," Mr. Burgess said.

YMCA boys have said they will help man the Colonist Walkathon checkpoints March 30.

Another group, the "hustlers," said they would try to win first prize to help boys who cannot afford to go to Camp Thunderbird in July pay camp fees.

Goes On

No deadline for returning present-style beer bottles has yet been set and it won't come for some time after the April 3 introduction of new "stubby" bottles, Victoria bottle dealers said last night.

They said the new-type bottles will be returnable on the same basis as the present ones.

"It could be two to six months just before we stop accepting the old-type bottles," said William Allan, manager of the Veteran Junk Company.

Saanich Asks
Liquor Store

The government is discriminating against Saanich by not allowing a liquor store in the municipality, Coun. Leslie Passmore charged last night.

"Why is it that the most populated area in Greater Victoria has no liquor outlet? I think it is most discriminatory that Saanich should be denied," he said.

Coun. Joseph Casey replied that although municipal officials got nowhere with the liquor control board, they are trying to arrange a meeting with Attorney-General Bennett, to ask for a store in the Town and Country shopping centre.

DUNCAN — Stars of the just-completed 14th Cowichan Music Festival will be presented in a concert planned for March 29 at 8 p.m. in Quamichan Junior Secondary School.

This was announced at Saturday's final festival session, opened by North Cowichan Reeve Donald Morton before a capacity crowd of almost 1,000, when outstanding performers were also heard.

Last Saturday night two students, Bruce Sharp, Shawinigan Lake Boys' School with a recitation of Shakespeare, and Mike Underwood, Duncan with a poem by Pauline Johnson, received especially enthusiastic applause. Highest award in the senior piano class, the North Cowichan Rose Bowl, was presented to Youbou girl Andrea Collins by Reeve Morton.

The festival adjudicators presented the following prizes to contestants with highest marks in the different categories: Carly Delahunt, Duncan, solo dancing, 94 points; Mary Jackson, Ladysmith, and Angela Bridgen, Fulford Harbour, tie in piano sight reading with 85 each for the Stanley Gordon Chapter IODE trophy; Irene King, Duncan, highest total aggregate marks in ballet, national and character dancing, Renwick Trophy and outstanding dancer, Mary Qualley Memorial Bursary.

Schools Tie for Trophy

Lake Cowichan and Alexander Elementary schools with 86 each tied for the B.C. Cement trophy in the speech choir class, and the MacMillan Bloedel trophy went to Queen Margaret's School chapel choir which reached 90 in the choral section. Prediction Work

Salmon
Scheduled

NANAIMO — Four fishing boats from the Fisheries Research Board of Canada Biological Station here Monday began preparing for a voyage on the high seas which may take a lot of guesswork out of predicting salmon runs.

The vessels are being dispatched by the marine salmon department at the station and will scour the Pacific along the B.C., Washington and Oregon coasts and west to the 160-degree mark.

FIRST PROJECT

"We have never been in the business of predicting salmon runs before," commented marine salmon official James Manzer, "but in our work of following the salmon migration we are now working on a project which should make for more accurate predictions."

The 52 men on board the biological vessels will search for the grounds of the salmon and wire back information to the station. Most of the salmon caught and tagged by the boats return to their sources later this year and the information collected on their size, health and on the conditions in their respective areas can be used to forecast the run.

INFORMATION SCANT

The biological station first began searching for the salmon areas in the Pacific last year but the initial information was scant. This year, if the same type of fish are found in the same areas, fishery officials hope they will be able to tell more as the salmon run will be traced faster.

At present the fishery department and the salmon commission make their predictions by studying the number of fish returning to spawn and keeping figures on the fry heading out to sea. The gap in these predictions lies in not knowing the conditions undergone by the salmon while at sea.

LEAVE APRIL 1

Mr. Manzer said the boats will leave the station April 1 and within a month reports on the salmon should start coming in by radio. He said that the fishery department, salmon commission and his own department will get together with their respective information in predicting runs.

He explained that of all the salmon caught at sea by the boats, the majority are fish which will be returning to their source this summer.

Brief

PORT ALBERNI — Concern has been expressed by the executive of Local 1-85 IWA over the recent presentation of a brief urging a survey of a proposed Comox-Alberni road.

In a statement from Local 1-85 president, Walter F. Allen, it was stated that the brief, presented to Highways Minister Chastard, proposes "what appears to be a layman's choice of a second access road into the Alberni Valley."

WIDE REPRESENTATION — The submission was made by representatives of municipal bodies and Chambers of Commerce of Alberni, Port Alberni, Parksville, Nanaimo, Cumberland and Courtenay-Comox.

Port Alberni union officers contend that the arguments contained in the Chamber of Commerce brief in support of an access road via Comox Lake hold equally true for an access road via Home Lake.

Police Abandon Hunt
For Missing Seaman

NANAIMO — RCMP have abandoned the search for 24-year-old tugboat crewman reported overboard near Departure Bay early Monday.

Planes and ships joined in the search for John Harris of Aldergrove, B.C., after he fell from the tug Henry Harder as it towed a scow into Departure Bay about 2:30 a.m. Harris was one of a two-man crew aboard the 36-foot tug.

A distress signal to search and rescue sparked the RCMP search, assisted by the Nanaimo harbor patrol. Police dogs scoured the shoreline of Protection Bay and Newcastle Island.

Two government vessels and the tugs Black Bess and Davis Straits assisted in the search of the area around Snake Island and Five Fingers Island.

The search was called off at 10 a.m. when there was still no sign of the missing man.

The harbor commission vessel will continue to patrol the harbor entrance for any trace of the seaman.

His Riding Ignored — Strachan

Opposition leader Robert Strachan charged in the legislature yesterday that his Cowichan-Newcastle riding is being discriminated against because he is its elected representative.

This, he went on, was obvious from the government's failure to build the long-promised Duncan courthouse and to reconstruct the Duncan-Lake Cowichan road. There was also the matter of a Duncan curb and gutter project.

His charge was denied by Highways Minister Gagliardi.

The minister added that Mr. Strachan might have some justification for thinking his constituency was being discriminated against for the delay in rebuilding the Lake Cowichan road, but that was really not the case.

He refused to be pinned down on when work on the road project might start.

Mr. Strachan said the only thing which could dispel his conviction that Cowichan-Newcastle was the object of government discrimination would be a start on the projects he had named.

Bargaining Rights Announced

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government Monday took a step toward placing its relations with civil service associations closer to that of trade unions, announcing acceptance in principle of collective bargaining.

Kennedy

Isolation Of Cuba Promised

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—President Kennedy today pledged Monday night to isolate Premier Castro's Cuba and bar the infiltration of Communist agents into the rest of the Americas.

"We will build a wall around Cuba—not a wall of mortar or brick or barbed-wire but a wall of dedicated men determined to protect their own freedom and sovereignty," he declared.

On the heels of what security officials called the greatest welcoming ovation in Costa Rica's history, Kennedy opened his

However, spokesmen for two major government staff associations noted that Prime Minister Diefenbaker's announcement of the government decision made no mention of binding arbitration in lieu of strike action by government employees.

150,000 AFFECTED

About 150,000 federal employees, roughly one-third of them in the capital, would be affected by collective bargaining. No mention was made of employees of such Crown agencies as the CBC which now bargains collectively with employee unions.

Mr. Diefenbaker's announcement, contained in a letter to C.A. Edwards, president of the Civil Service Federation of Canada, was interpreted by Mr. Edwards as a guarantee that after the April 8 general election some form of collective bargaining will be instituted for civil servants.

OTHER ENDORSEMENT

Leaders of the three other political parties had earlier given varying forms of endorsement to collective bargaining at the request of the federation.

Mr. Diefenbaker left a cabinet meeting at his official residence to hand reporters a copy of a letter to Mr. Edwards which said:

"My colleagues and I have given full consideration to your letter regarding the question of collective bargaining in the civil service, and having noted that the federation and other civil service associations do not claim the right to strike, the government fully endorses acceptance of the principle of collective bargaining."

NO SPECIFIC MENTION

Mr. Edwards said in a statement that "while Mr. Diefenbaker fully endorses the principle of collective bargaining, he does not specifically mention binding arbitration in lieu of strike action."

The federation claims a membership of 72,000. Other groups include the Civil Service Association of Canada with a membership of 32,000, the Canadian Postal Employees Association, 10,600, and the Professional Institute of the Public Service, 6,700.

Ch. Best, CSA president, said his group's happiness is tempered "by the fact that there is no indication that there will be a form of binding arbitration, binding on both this government and the associations in those areas where disputes or differences of opinion do not make for a mutually agreed solution."

Breakdown Ahead Reds Warn

GENEVA (AP)—Russia said Monday Western insistence on more than three on-site inspections a year will inevitably lead to a breakdown of the nuclear test-ban negotiations.

Soviet disarmament spokesman Semyon Tsarapkin also warned the neutral bloc at the 17-nation disarmament talks against bringing pressure on Russia to raise its inspection quota offer.

U.S. ambassador Charles Stelle said Soviet acceptance of on-site inspection was the main theme of the letters exchanged between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev in January, and added: "I hope the Soviet representative will clarify this for us right now."

Tsarapkin ignored the appeal.

U.S. Ship 'Buzzed' By Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four Russian aircraft flew over the United States aircraft carrier Constellation in the western Pacific two days ago, the defence department announced Monday.

U.S. Navy reconnaissance and fighter planes intercepted the four Russian craft about 100 miles from the ship and escorted them "during a total of nine individual passes over the carrier," the Pentagon said.

OTTAWA (CP)—Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia, has expressed his confidence that Social Credit Leader Thompson and his party "have a major role to play in the future" of Canada.

The letter, written in Amharic, had an appended English translation initiated by the emperor. Mr. Thompson was a senior administrator in Ethiopia from 1943 to 1958, serving as director of provincial education in 1946-51.

STRENGTHEN TIES

Recalling Mr. Thompson's service, the letter expressed confidence that he will continue to strengthen ties between Canada and Ethiopia and the hope "to see you soon in Ethiopia."

The letter, dated March 4, reached Mr. Thompson through the Social Credit office in Montreal.

The harvest has started, and these are the first of 10,000,000 daffodil blooms which will be picked on Saanich Peninsula this year. Production Refutes Liberal Gloom Theory

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Monday Canada's national production has passed the $10,000,000,000 mark—the first time in history such a record has been achieved by a country of 20,000,000 or less population.

This achievement, he said, showed the falsifications in the Liberal party's appeal to the voters last year.

Later in the day, before 1,100 people in the Renfrew, Ont., Armory, he said Liberal leader Lester Pearson deserted his responsibilities during the recent brief session of Parliament.

Role of Aloneness Unsafe for Canada

MONTREAL (CP)—Liberal Leader Pearson said Monday night there is no security for Canada in a position of isolation.

He said any efforts Canada makes for peace and world security must be made from a strong position within the Western alliance.

TO ETHNIC GROUPS

Mr. Pearson made a short address to Liberal party associations of seven ethnic groups in Montreal, who tendered him a spontaneous reception.

"We must work for peace through the United Nations and from a position of security," he said. "We who believe in freedom must be strong to protect freedom."

NO CONTRIBUTION

"I do not consider as a contribution to peace any policy that would remove Canada from the Western alliance, nor is it any contribution to peace for a party to set a defence policy and then refuse to carry it out."

Tory Makes Big Splash

QUATERS SOUND — Progressive Conservative candidate Alex Crouch made a big splash here during a weekend tour of remote sections of the Comox-Alberni riding.

His foot slipped as he tried to jump ashore from a plane wing here, and into the sound he went. While his clothes dried in a nearby home, Mr. Crouch wore a borrowed suit, several sizes too large, at his political meeting.

By TERRY HAMMOND Colonist Legislative Reporter

A key to the riddle of whether a Trans-Canada Highway contractor was overpaid by $135,000 may lie locked in a rocky, 12-mile stretch of road near Revelstoke.

But it could be unlocked by a comprehensive, three-month survey, the legislative committee probing serious accusations against Highways Minister Gagliardi and his department was told last night. A survey was suggested, but no decision was made.

Departmental construction director E. C. Webster told the committee that in spite of the fact controversial Project 819 was completed in 1958 its cuts and fills will still be mute testimony to whether the $135,000 worth of work was ever done.

His statement came after the quietest day of the investigation.

A single blowup came when Opposition leader Robert Strachan protested "continual harassment" by government members and told chairman Irvine Corbett "I have been turned down on everything I want."

Mr. Webster also said that, as far as determining whether the contractor had been overpaid, the monthly progress estimates sheets were of comparatively little significance.

Final Check Counts

What really counted was the final project survey when an actual measurement is made of all material moved.

Individual progress estimate sheets could be at some variance with the actual material moved during the period they covered. But final settlement for the job would rest upon the results of the survey of the finished project.

Estimate sheets had been the basis of extensive cross-examination of the construction director by opposition members of the committee.

Mr. Webster also:

- Denied a principal of L & M Logging Co. prime contractor on Project 819, ever got special treatment as a result of visits to the highways department offices.
- Stated categorically there was no misuse of funds on Project 819.
- Denied he had any knowledge L & M was in financial difficulty.
- Said the federal government approved awarding of the contract to L & M.
- Denied any knowledge of a conspiracy in the awarding of a contract for Project 1023 to a successor company.
- Stated no such conspiracy could exist without his knowledge.

Mr. Webster had been in the witness box for every session of the committee since Wednesday when Montana contractor Dick Holzworth completed his testimony.

Holzworth's allegations of estimate padding, overpayment and promises of favors to contractors sparked the public accounts inquiry when they were tabled in the House by the NDP three weeks ago.

Mr. Webster, a halting witness who shed little light on some aspects of the allegations, indicated last night a new survey of the project might make the committee's probe into Project 819 unnecessary.

He refused to agree the resident engineer on Project 819 had committed a "fantastic error" in estimating the quantities of rock and other material on the job.

He told Randolph Harding (NDP Kootenai-Slocan) "I have tried to explain. I don't know what I can say now."

Mr. Harding was asking how an estimate of 31,400 yards of rock and 37,500 yards of other material could, on an altered estimate made for the purpose of a progress payment, become 38,400 yards of rock and 30,500 yards of other material.

He testified the new figures came as a result of reclassification of some of the other material to the category of solid rock.

Reclassification was asked for by an official of L & M and was carried out by regional construction engineer D. J. Gormley on the job.

Shed Little Light

Classification conducted by the resident engineer, E. H. Barclay, had been conservative.

Liberal leader Ray Perrault elicited the information the project could be surveyed

French A-Blast Protested

RABAT (AP)—The Moroccan government said Monday night it had learned that France fired a nuclear device Monday in the Algerian Sahara.

King Hassan II instructed his foreign ministry to protest to France.

NO COMMENT

There was no immediate comment from the de Gaulle government or from Algerian Premier Ben Bella's regime, which sources reported earlier had threatened to break off cooperative agreements with France if the French went ahead with a test.

A Moroccan government communique gave no source for its statement that the French exploded a nuclear device Monday in the Hagggar region near Reggane, the French military testing centre deep in the Algerian Sahara.

Miners May Return

(CP from AP-Reuters)

PARIS — The French government's battle on the labor front registered a slight advance Monday as iron ore mine unions recommended a return to work. But disputes on many other fronts continued to plague the regime.

Both the Communist and Catholic unions scheduled a vote among the iron miners Wednesday on ending their walkout. The Socialist union was expected to go along with this decision and the miners were expected to endorse a return to work.

NONE LAID OFF

The unions acted after receiving the government's assurance that no miners will be laid off before June 1 while the wage, hour and employment situations are being studied.

Beria's Former House Haunted?

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—If Moscow has a haunted house, it's the former home of Lavrenty P. Beria, chief of Joseph Stalin's secret police.

Russians and foreigners say strange things go on there at night: strange lights hover over the roof on certain occasions. Late at night, Russians returning home on foot cross to the other side of the street.

Hundreds of Soviet citizens remember that day in June 10 years ago when a squadron of tanks rolled down Tchaikovsky Boulevard and surrounded Beria's home.

"My little boy was there for a while," said Lydia A. Smetanova, "but he became nervous and frightened. I removed him. The place was haunted."

Today, Beria's old home is the Tunisian Embassy.

But the tanks were there that day in June and wild rumors followed their appearance and Beria's execution.

The house became a kindergarten—but not for long.

"My little boy was there for a while," said Lydia A. Smetanova, "but he became nervous and frightened. I removed him. The place was haunted."

Today, Beria's old home is the Tunisian Embassy.

Friends of the Tunisian envoy say that as far as he's concerned it's just another house.

"But not the wife of his predecessor," said the wife of a European ambassador. "She was frightened to death of the place. She said all sorts of strange noises kept her awake. There were moans and groans and unexplained footfalls and slamming and banging of doors."
